Rosemarie Smith, Judy Miller, Amanda Talmadge, and Joan Coffelt wait for their first peek at the 76 yearbook.

These Sophomore class members laugh at each other as freshmen while they sign one another's yearbook.

Linda Callender pretends not to hear Pat Garrett saying, "I'll trade you, a kiss for your yearbook."

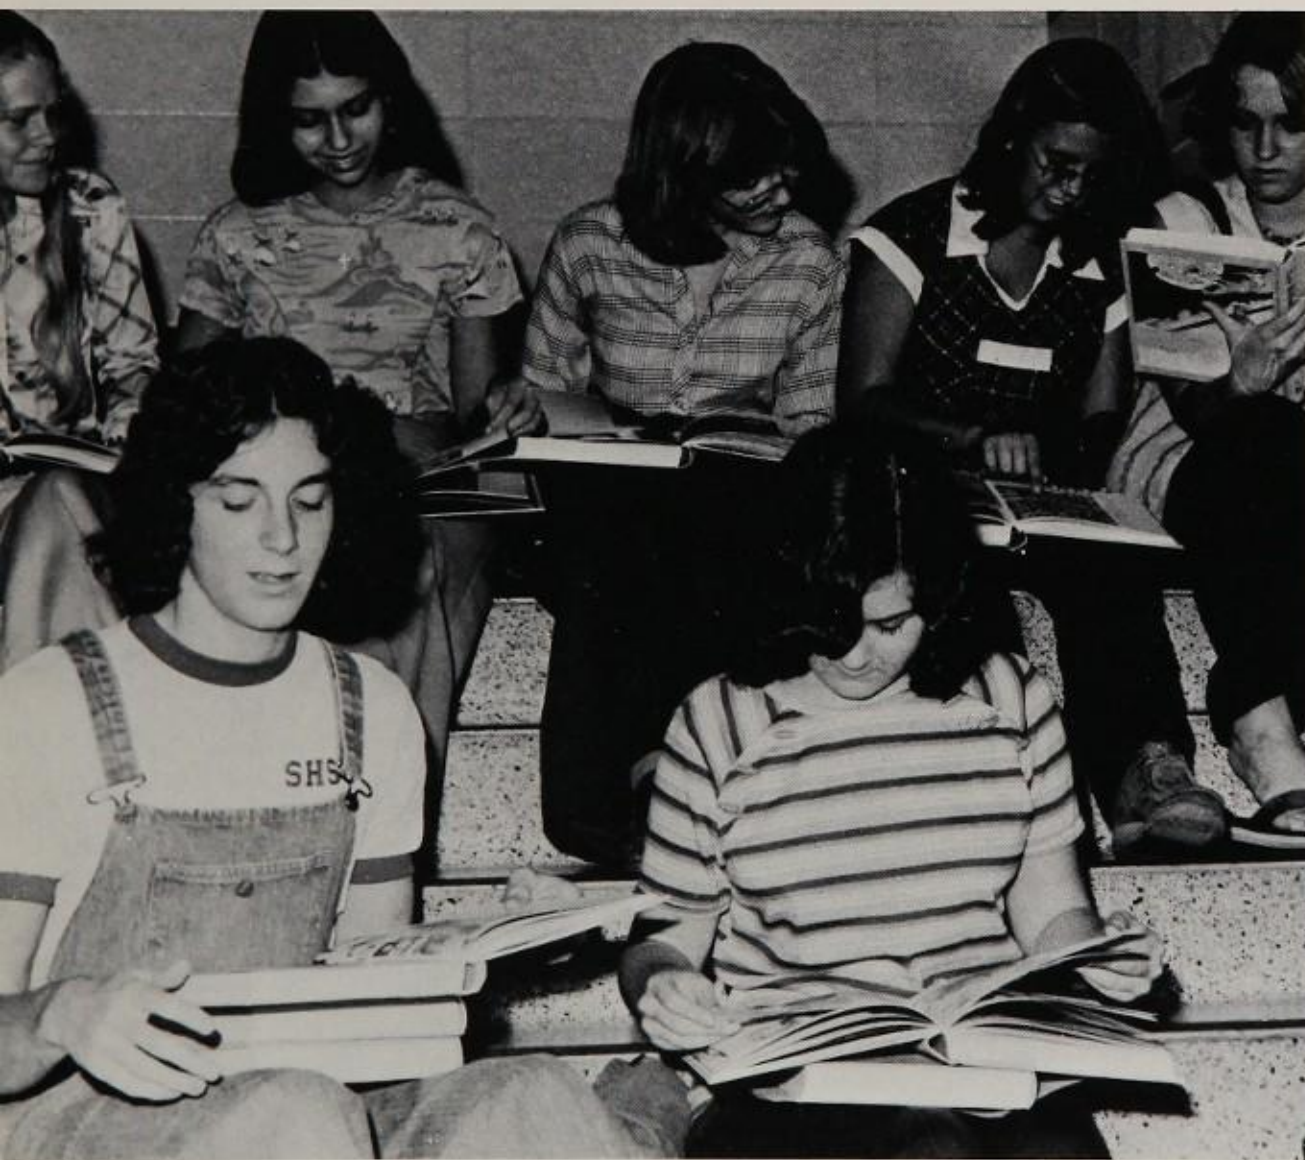

"They just can't resist me," sighs Mr. Thompson.

STATESMAN ARRIVAL IS CELEBRATED

The first Yearbook Signing Party was held in September of this school year to celebrate the arrival of the Bicentennial Statesman. The students picked up their books in the school foyer and then went to the cafeteria to meet their friends. Some students congregated on the stairs to look through their books and to sign their friends' books. Favorite teachers were swamped with requests to sign the books of past students. Many graduates of Sam Rayburn also attended the party to see old acquaintances and reminisce.

Underclassmen are amazed at the great '76 Statesman and Gary Boatman is so impressed he bought three books.

Senior Vicki Satterwhite exclaims to Donna Brazil, "That guy signed Love and Kisses in my book too."

Sharon Keene, Jayne Cutsinger, Cindy Yohe, Georgia Womack, and Pat Garrett show what they learned while watching Soul Train at the last Tri-Gamma meeting.

TEXAN SPIRIT GOES BANANAS

Various activities were done during the first part of football season by the students of Sam Rayburn to show their Team spirit. Several skits and spirit contests were held at the pep rallies and the Drill team girls made spirit hats for the football players for the Baytown game. During the pep rallies two football guys like Tony Sappington and Rick Kinsey were called on to assure the students and faculty of a victory. Then at the closing of the pep rallies a victory arch was formed by the officers of clubs to lead the Mighty Texan team to victory.

Joe Freeman wonders if he can pinch the girls back, as he stumbles through the victory arch.

"Oh, my gosh!" "I hope my nose isn't too shiney because I forgot to powder it before the pep rally!!"

Judy Miller shows off her skill as a cheerleader!

"I know this is going to be tough and alot of work, but I can take it like a man!!!!" thinks senior Ricky Self.

Toby Meyers, Ronnie Risinger, Micky Hoke, Alan Embry, Pat Coman, and Randy Fluke compete in a contest to determine their banana eating ability. Not pictured are Freshmen competitors Kirk Lane and Randy Risinger.

S. R. pep rallies bring out the devil in Judy Wege.

Sam rises to the occasion as the crowd cheers on.

The school board requested that the Drill Team trade in their six-shooters for a less violent weapon.

GO-O BLUE!

The students created many antics to go along with the pep rally themes. For the "Go Bananas" pep rally the cheerleaders chose two guys to represent each grade level. They raced to see who could shove the most bananas in their mouths in a two minute time limit. As the crowd shouted encouragement and the tension built the final seconds found all of the contestants coated with banana. The result was a tie between the junior and senior representatives. The Halloween pep rally presented a variety of costumes. Some students like Judy Wege dressed up as their favorite character. At the Pasadena pep rally the faculty dressed up 50's style. They wore their outfits all day to amuse the students.

Two Pasadena High graduates, Mr. Goodwin and Mrs. English signal that Sam Rayburn is Ayyyyy O.K.!

"One big rah for the Rayburn team. Hey rah!"

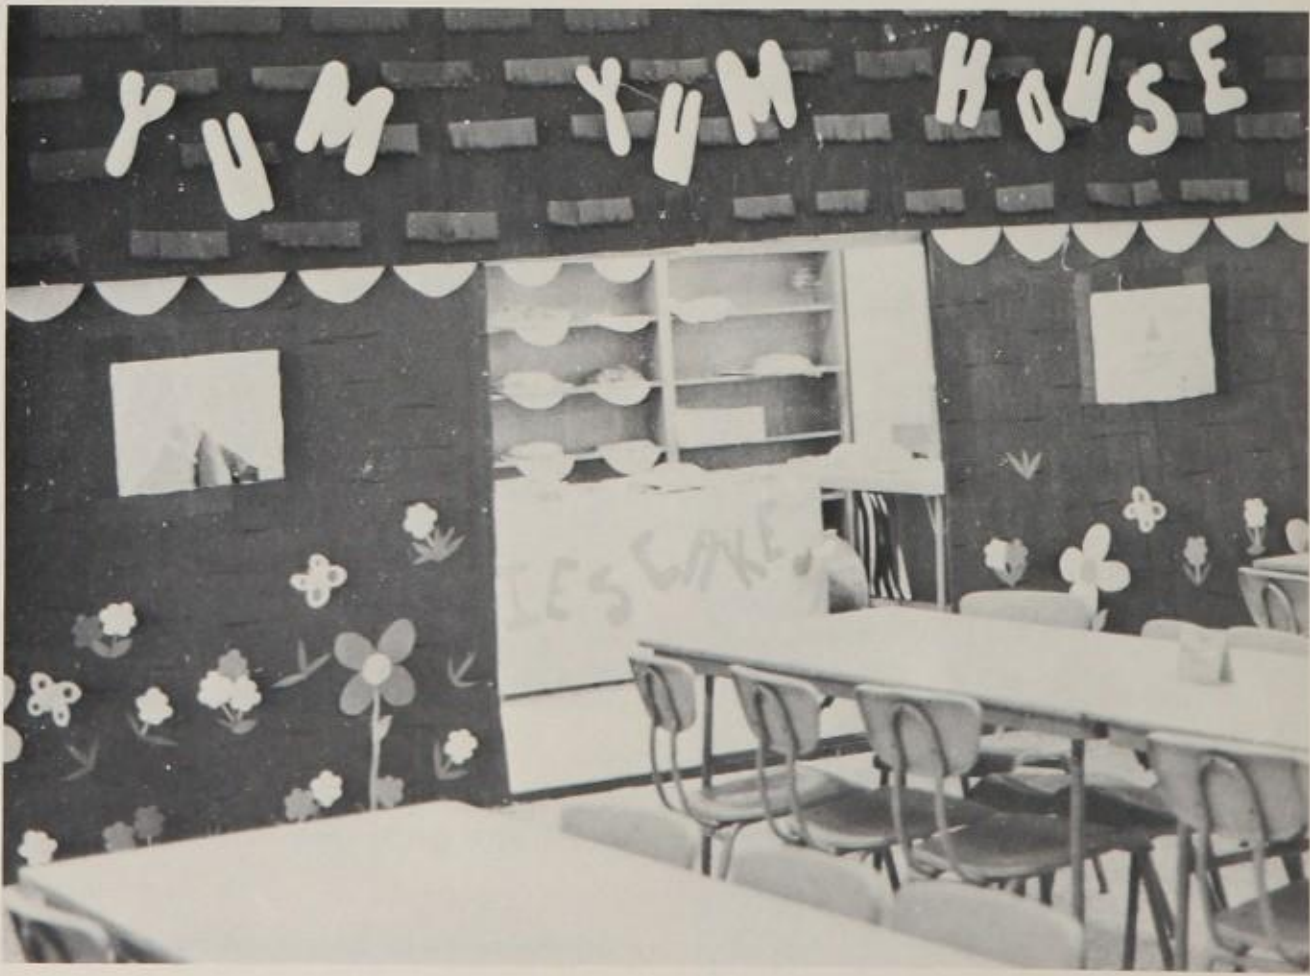

"What's a nice girl like me doing in a place like this?" mumbles Junior FHA member Patrice Starling.

FHA AND FFA SET UP FAIR

The Future Homemakers of America and the Future Farmers of America held their Town and Country Fair once more in the school cafeteria. They had everything a good fair is supposed to have: a dunking booth, a water balloon throwing booth, and plenty of clowns. To add to the festivities there were candy booths, pie and cake sales and a barbeque dinner! The Fair began at 5:00 p. m. and continued until 9:00 p. m. Students, parents, and faculty enjoyed watching and participating in the fun and games.

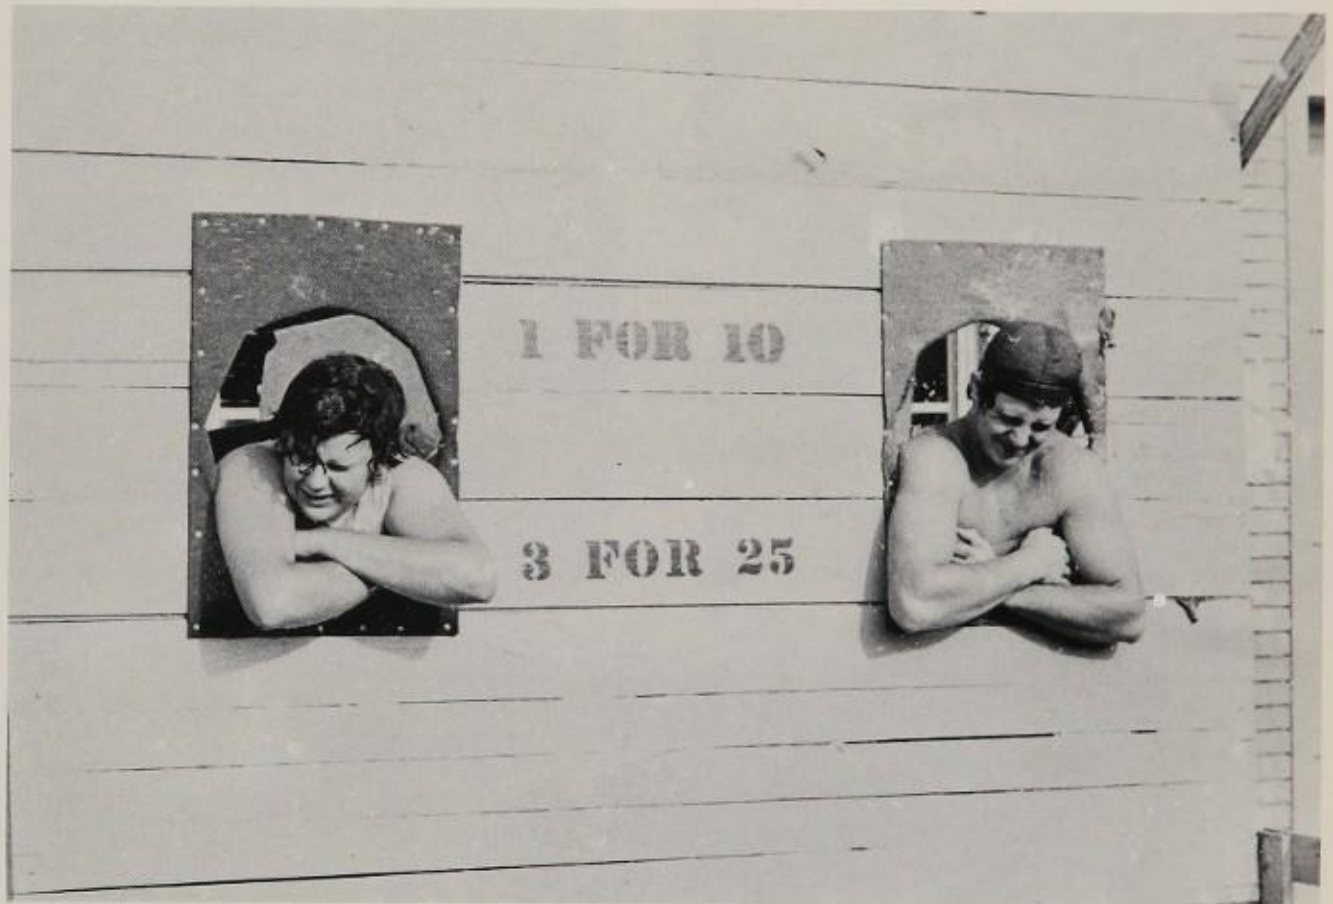

"You want a slice of WHAT?" exclaims Paula Gillioz.

Karen Plunkett wonders how she's going to get a three layer cake and a candied apple in a Baggie.

Marlen Jackson and Mark Denny cringe as another water balloon is thrown their way at the Country Fair.

Annette Brashier laughs when someone tells her where her flower is from: her date's backyard.

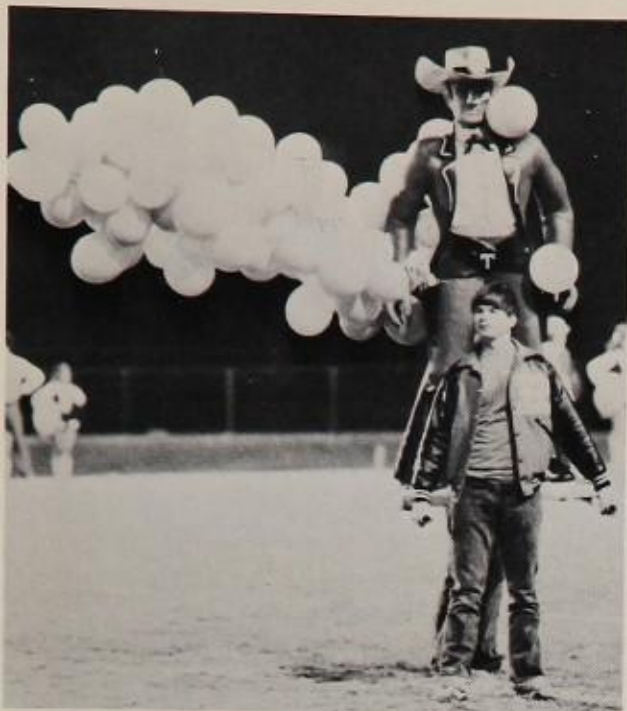

Jerry White is so pleased that he got a date for homecoming that it is all that he can do to control himself.

"My mums are the biggest," says Karen Fisher.

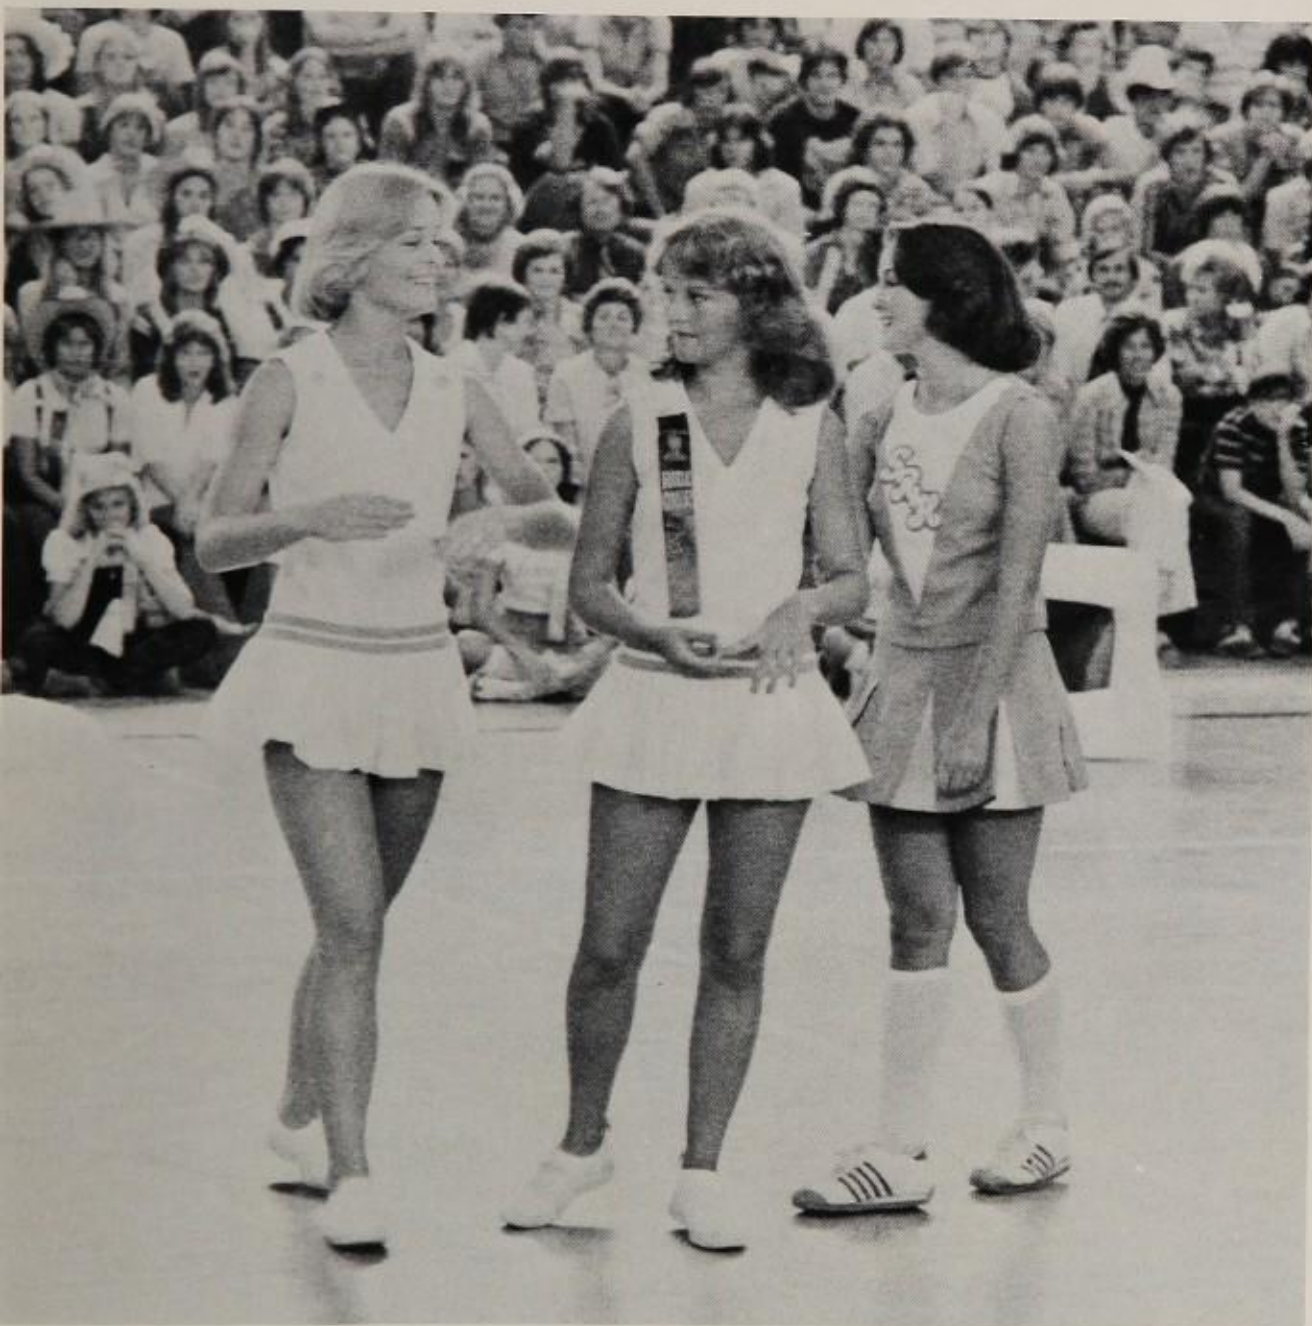

Martha Hanby says cold-heartedly to Kim Skyles, "Please get your hands off my knee or I'll pick your flower."

Julie Fife was very excited about homecoming.

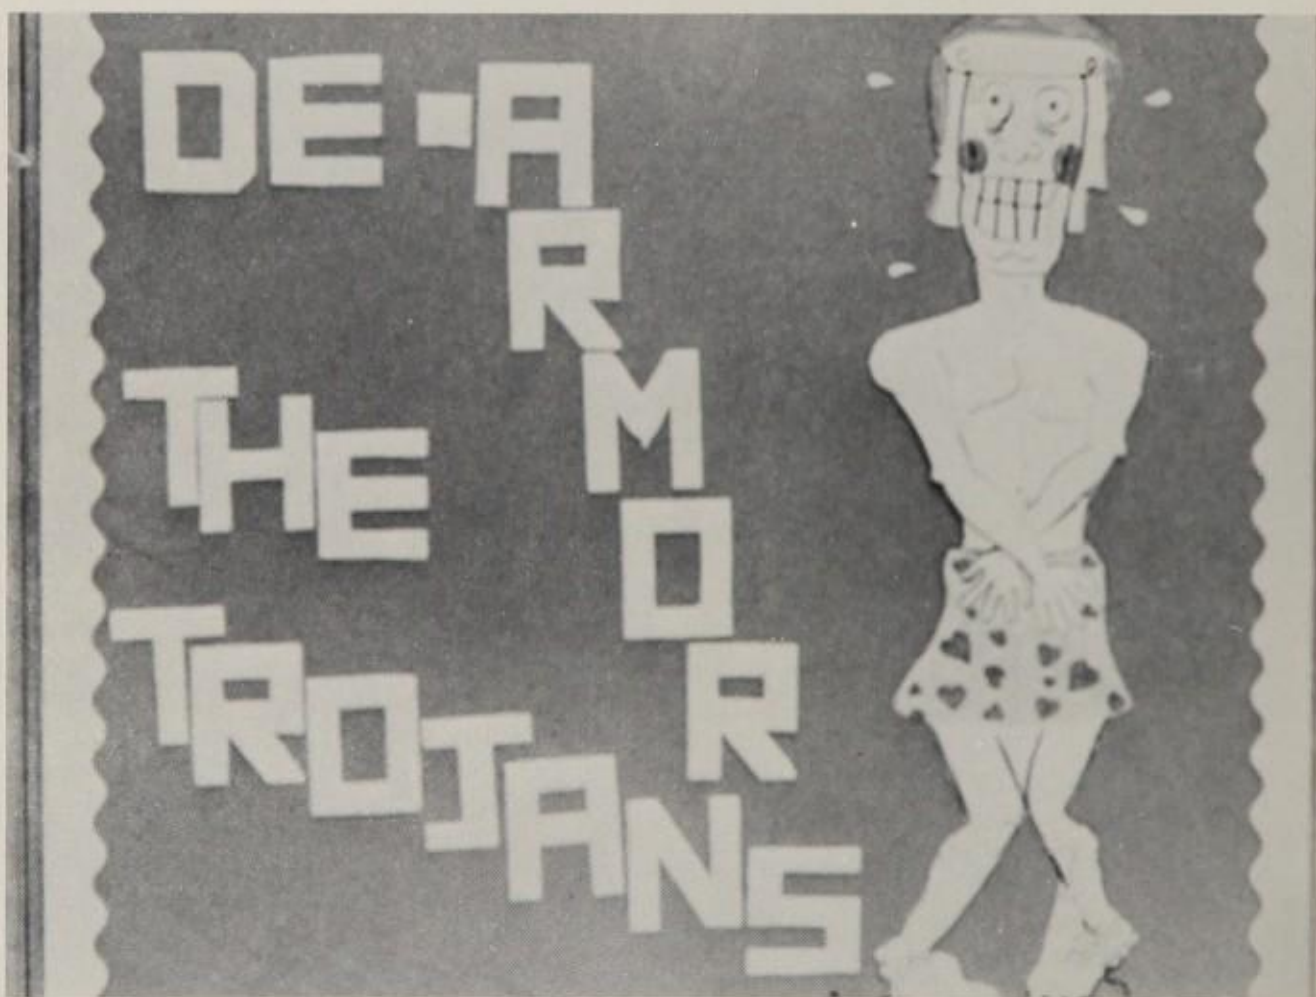

Joel Sample holds Sam and his balloons at the game.

SPECIAL GAME EXCITES GIRLS

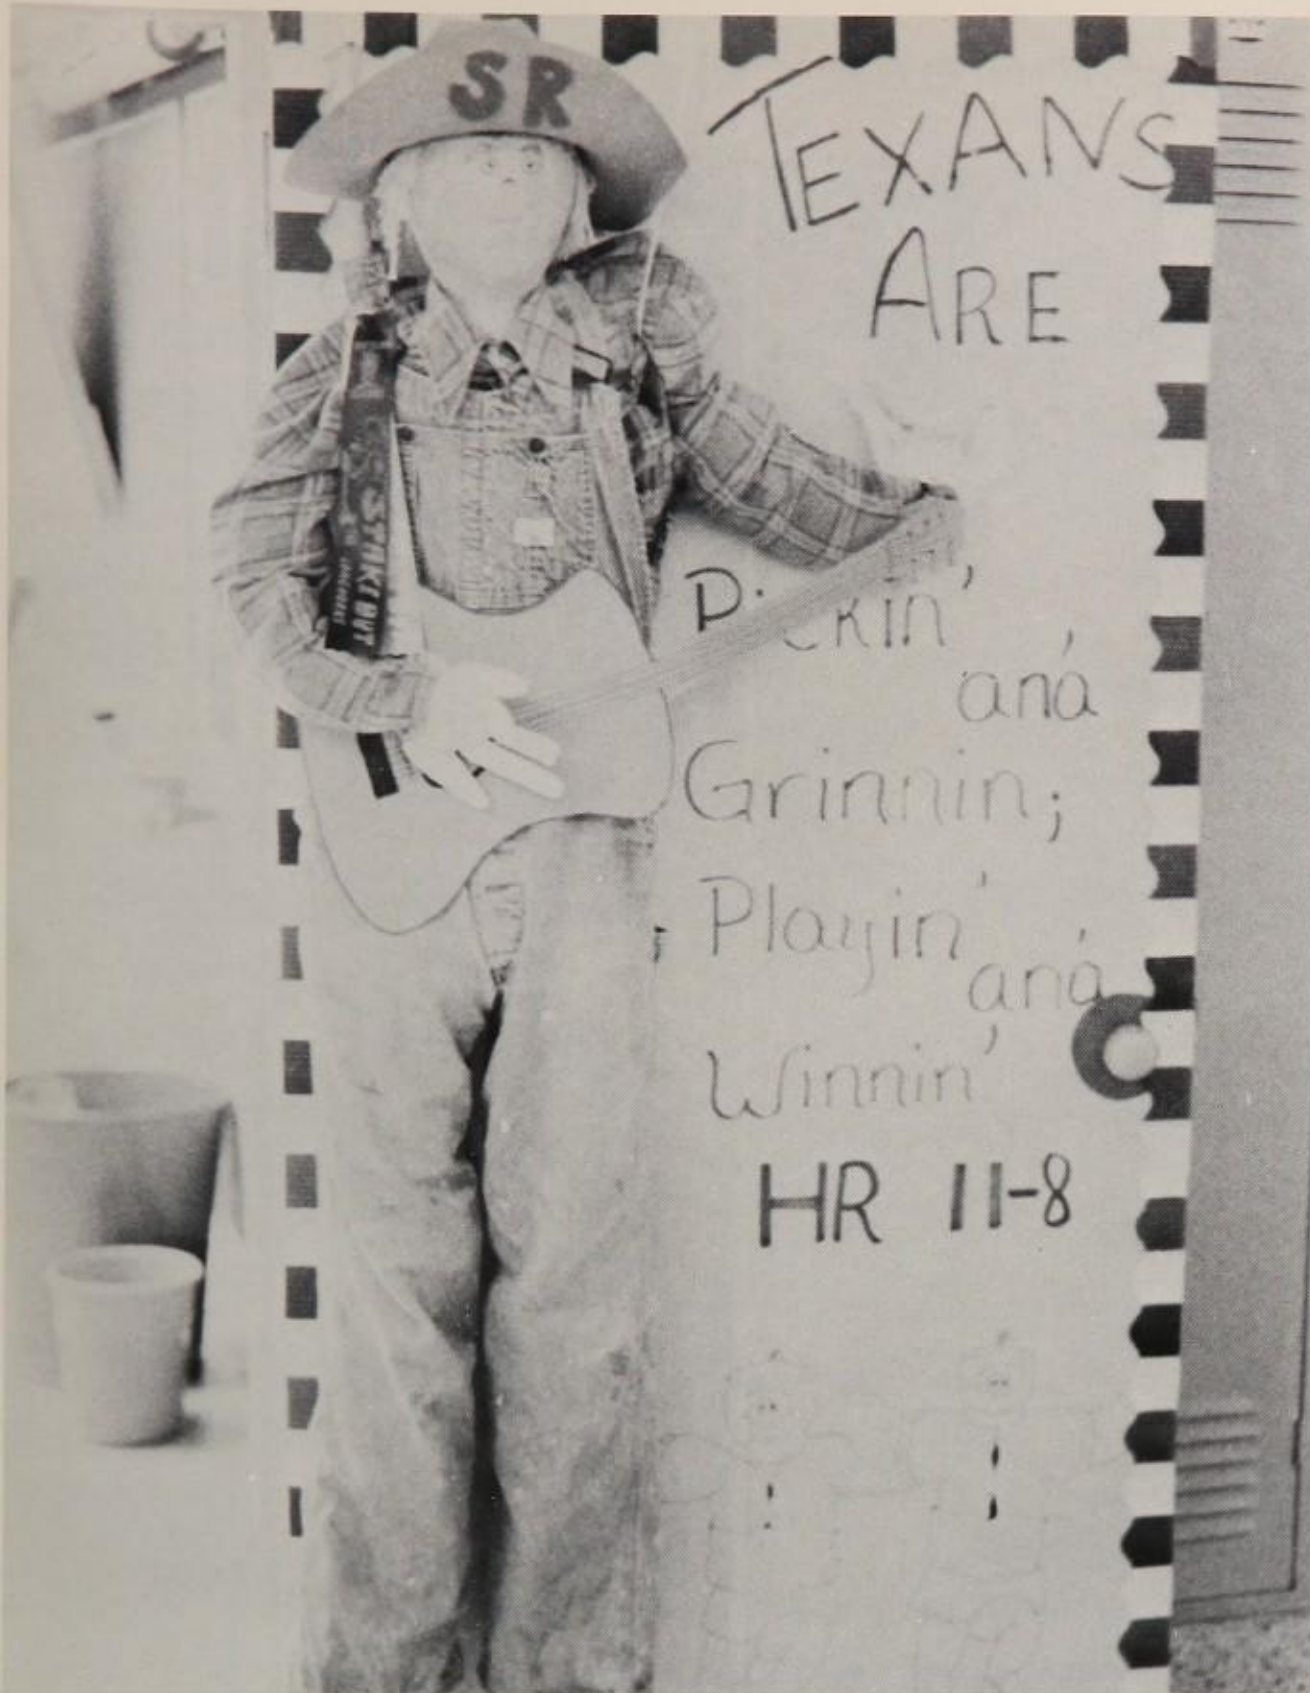

The homecoming game brought smiles to the faces of many girls and money shortages to quite a few boys at Rayburn. With Round-up week came the beautiful big homecoming mums, and the important homecoming game. Susan Leighton, Judy Miller, and Kendra Priddy were chosen by the senior class as finalists for the title of Miss Roundup 1976-77. The whole student body then voted on these three girls to choose Miss Round-up. Susan Leighton was the girl the students chose and she was presented a charm and roses by Greg Smith, the senior class president. The halftime ceremony was more exciting due to this presentation. After the game, couples headed for night spots around Houston to have a formal dinner.

SPIRIT GOES COMPETITIVE

During the first trimester the cheerleaders sponsored many contests to test the spirit of the student body at Rayburn. There were several contests to see which homeroom could create the most creative bulletin board which showed the most spirit. During Pasadena week, the Eagles faced torment and ridicule from many Texan homerooms when they participated in the door decorating contest and hall decorating contest. Many clubs and organizations also put their efforts to making the halls very colorful for the week before the big game. The spirit contests were great successes and the team participated along with the student body in making the football spirit come alive.

SIGNS SHOW ENTHUSIASM

Among the spirit promoting projects furnished by the cheerleaders were decorating contests of many kinds. During Pasadena week the students here at Sam Rayburn went wild with spirit. They participated in a victory march through the halls during school and marched from the school building to the Memorial Stadium where the game was to be held. There was also a hall decorating contest in which many clubs participated. FHA, Band, Tri-Gamma, Tri-Delta, Tex-Anns, and many homerooms decorated a portion of a hall. The cheerleaders judged and Tri-Gamma emerged victorious. They decorated the office staircase with streamers, balloons, posters, and an enlarged number for each player on the Texan team.

David Thompson seems to attract members of the opposite sex at Pizza Hut with his tall Texan charm.

"I double dare you to try to take my last piece of pizza," threatens mighty Texan Curtis Sheppard.

FRIENDS MEET AT PIZZA HUT

After football and basketball games quite a few of the Texan fans headed for the local Pizza Hut. This was the place where everyone either celebrated for a great victory or let out their frustrations of defeat. It became a habit for everyone to meet at Pizza Hut and let themselves relax. Scott Sewell is shown smiling after a Texan victory.

"Now was that two pizzas and five Pepsis or five pizzas and two Pepsis?" ponders Madeline Andrew.

Ronnie Jordan can't keep his eyes from wandering.

Cheryl Picha and Jan Richmond laugh when Debby Cast and Roni Bland find salad dressing on their pizza.

Laura Pitman and Susan Holcomb are surprised when two good-looking guys ask to sit at their table.

AWARDS GIVEN FOR GRADES

National Honor Society hosted this years Academic Excellence program. Mr. Stripling, who was the guest speaker, encouraged students to use their talent to further their knowledge. The theme was Halloween. Refreshments were provided after the ceremony.

"Wasted days and wasted nights," sings Greg Smith.

THE CHOIRS

"SING OUT"

The Sam Rayburn Choir provided entertainment several times during the year. The Christmas concert was held on December 13 in the auditorium. The show had the Christmas Spirit through Christmas carols sung by the Acappella, Chorale, and Madrigals. On January 28 and 29, the Choirs performed the traditional Pop Show having rock and love songs. A country song "Grandma's Feather Bed" sung by LeaAnn Sheppard and Chuck Harper changed the pace of the show. On May 12 the Choirs finished the year by performing a Spring Show.

At Christmas, Curtis Dorman sings "Feliz Navidad".

CLUB GIVES MANY PARTIES

The Interact Club helped the school alot this year by giving four school parties. Senior Mike Turner helped alot by loaning his juke-box for the parties' success. Each party was talked about and each one seemed to be better than the last. The club served refreshments and furnished all the decorations. Everyone appreciated their contributions.

SRS. FLY TO THE CAPITOL

For many Seniors, the week of January 9 through 15 was a very exciting one. Seniors who were sponsored or raised the money flew to Washington D. C. This group spent many hours in seminars which were very educating. Beyond the seminars, the Seniors saw the many sites of Washington D. C. and many of them enjoyed playing in the snow. The fun-filled week was a rewarding experience for the Seniors.

SERVICE CLUBS

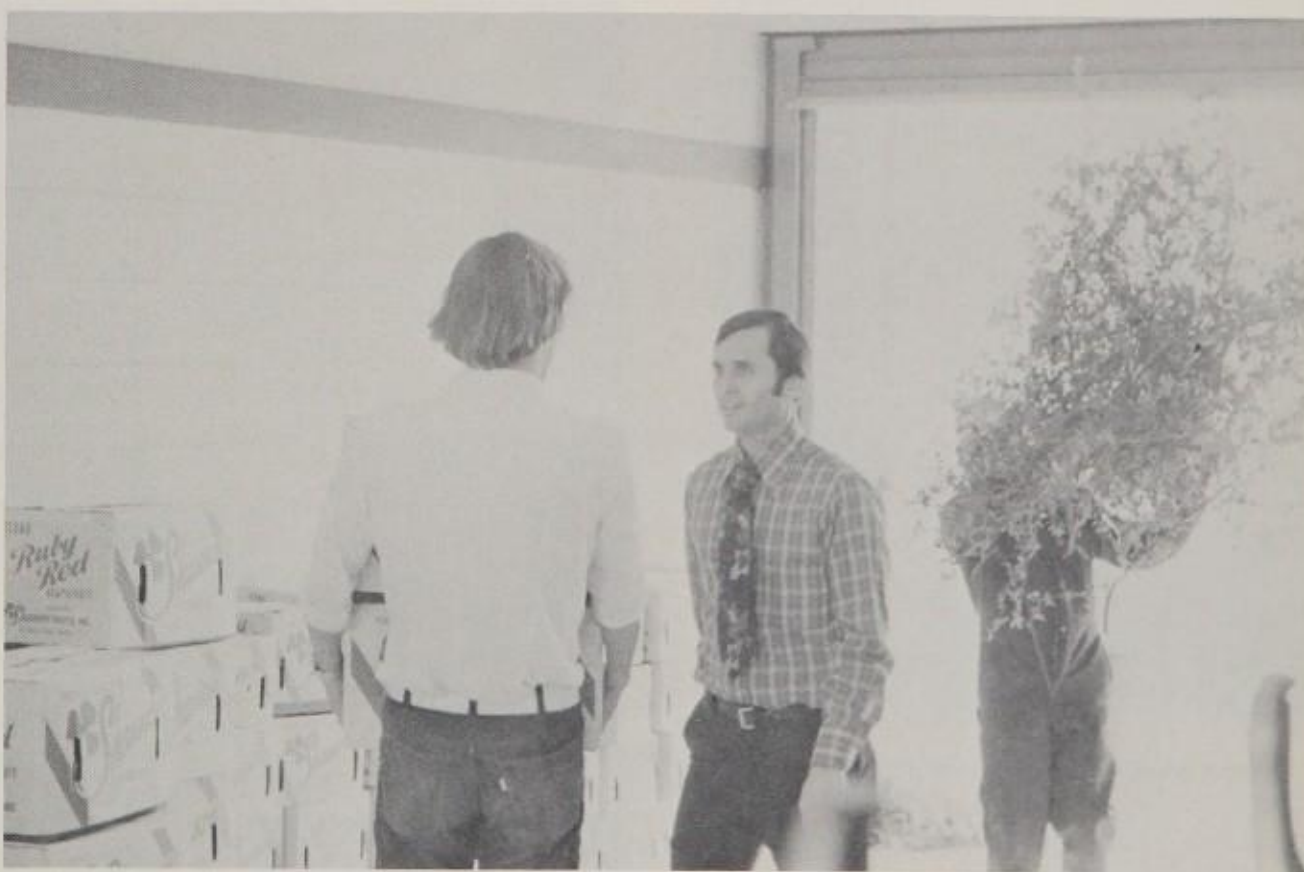

AID FAMILIES

During the Christmas season the Key Club and the Interact Club sponsored drives to collect food, toys, and Christmas trees for needy families. They collected money and bought chicken, milk, eggs, soup, and canned goods. They obtained a list of names from the Welfare Department and delivered the ingredients for a complete Christmas dinner. Their efforts were appreciated by all the families and many students participated.

BLUEBONNET NOMINEES ARE LOOKING GOOD

Fifty-two girls were put through the nervousness of an exciting beauty pageant. The interview came first. Then, that wonderful night filled with tension on February 19, 1977.

The girls are nominated to represent clubs in the Bluebonnet Belle Pageant. Also, one girl was chosen from each senior homeroom. Four preliminary judges made the decision of twenty-one finalists, while five pageant judges chose five Bluebonnet Belles.

Ann Roberts just throws her head back and faces the judges with a happy smile and a very special look.

"I can't believe I'm missing my T. V. show just to walk across a stage." thinks Debbie Reimers as she grins.

OILERS VISIT RAYBURN GYM

The R.O.T.C. held a Houston Oiler vs. Rayburn faculty game to raise money for their trip to Colorado. The Oiler team members came out to face the well-practiced faculty and showed spectators a very interesting game. The faces of the cheerleaders weren't as familiar to students as the cheerleaders during the regular season because they were teachers instead of students. Miss Stanley, Mrs. Preston, Miss Crawford, and Miss Rogers showed their support of the faculty by leading cheers. The game was not the normal basketball game to say the least. Mr. Lessner, a teacher in the social studies department, was surprised by a Houston Oiler when he was taking a free shot. The fans got the free shot instead when Mr. Lessner's pants were lowered down to his knees. The Oilers beat the faculty by a large margin in the exciting game.

MANY ASPECTS DISPLAYED BY TEXAN TEAM

The Texans were put into many crucial positions as they fought their way to 3rd place in a close district race. They played many games which resulted in a referee's call. Junior tailback, Steve Miller, is shown racking up the yards against La Marque. Senior place-kicker and punter, Rick Kinsey, worked along with QB Steve Runnels to hold in a field goal attempt. Coach Lyles is making the other coaches a proposition while Junior cornerback, Tolly Acuff, is caught watching the girls in the stands. Although they did not win 1st in district, they had a successful season.

TEXANS TAKE SHORT BREAKS

Throughout the season, the Texans took many short breaks. For example, Charlie McNabb is shown gargling Gatorade after making a reception for a long gain. Another example is the Texan offense taking a breather during a time-out. Coach Venable works up a storm while Charlie Heintschel listens to his advice. Gary Mechler, Phil Miller, and Carl Mitchell watch the Texan defense hold their opponents. The Texans also suffered a few broken bones during the season. They included: Mike Firestone, Steve Benthall, Bobby Stone, Randy Grounds, Lynn King, and Charlie McNabb.

TEXANS WIN DIST. TITLE

The Texan baseball team had an outstanding season under coaches Al Campo and Richard Harrington. They ended their pre-district season with a 5 win 7 loss record. The Texans came on strong with a 7-0 first half district record. Assured of a play-off spot, the Texans went into a best out of three district play-off with the South Houston Trojans. The Texans lost the first game 1-0. But the Texans, bi-district bound, bounced back the second game to beat the Trojans 5-4 in 10 innings. Discontented with their first play-off win, the Texans came back to stomp the Trojans 5-1 to take the District Championship. The Texans lost bi-district to Alvin.

Tri-Delta, a junior girl's organization, participated in many activities during the year. Each member chose a junior varsity football and basketball player and created activities for them before each game. They also performed a skit at the homecoming pep rally, for which they won the spirit stick. During Pasadena week, they decorated part of the hall. At the last pep rally, Delta members gave a carnation to each girl in Tri-Gamma as a remembrance of their senior year. On December 15, at Tri-Delta's Christmas party, girls in the club went around different neighborhoods and collected articles of clothing and furniture for a family whose house burned down. Their scavenger hunt was quite successful and the family had a nice Christmas thanks to the efforts of Ms. Westwood's club.

Tri-Gamma also decorated the main stairway and won the hall decorating contest. At the end of football season, Tri-Gamma held a banquet at St. Peter's Church for the varsity football team. The members entertained their guests with skits and there was dancing after the banquet. During basketball season, Gamma members selected a basketball player and did things for them also.

CLUBS SERVE STUDENT BODY

The members of Sam's Crew performed an excellent job. Eight boys are selected by Mr. Simpson to carry Sam at the football games. Their duties also include setting up the gym for the pep rallies and carrying all the cheerleader equipment to the football games. These boys are truly a necessary part of our school's spirit.

The Fire Marshals of Sam Rayburn work hard for everyone's safety. During the first trimester, the school was plagued by many bomb threats. The fire marshals made sure everyone was out of the building and they also checked for fire hazards in their area. They also must make random checks of their area for anything that might be dangerous and report their findings to Mr. Vegas, sponsor.

SERVICE CLUB GIVES PARTIES

Interact, a boy's service club, selected its new members at the beginning of the school year. Members of this club sold fruit and candy to support an orphan overseas. The money from their dances October 22 and January 21 also went toward this project. Interact also sponsored the annual drive for twenty-seven needy families at Christmas time. Toys and canned goods were collected from various clubs for this project. The profits of their dance February 4, went toward the Tex-Anns' trip to California.

LETTERMEN SELL RIBBONS

Although the "R" Association got off to a late start, the members enjoyed their time with the club. At the beginning of the year they sold football ribbons to promote spirit. The profit from these ribbons went to pay for athletic equipment. At the lettermen's first true meeting officers were elected, they included: Mike Turner, president; Gary Mechler, vice-president; and Carl Mitchell, secretary. On Tuesday the 17 of May, all the new members were initiated into the club. Under the supervision of Coach Matthews, they divided into teams and competed in different races, such as bobbing for bananas in corn syrup and rolling eggs across the gym floor with their noses. The less fortunate of the competitors faced a freezing ice bath, which taught the lesson that winning is more important than how the game is played.

FHA BOASTS FAIR A SUCCESS

The Future Homemakers of America had a busy year. The Town and Country Fair had many different booths including baked goods and crafts which the members made themselves. Tammy Keetch dressed as one of the many clowns at the fair. As a clown she sold balloons and kept youngsters amused. The FHA officers put on a skit at the Hee Haw pep rally for the Dobie game. During this week each FHA member selected one boy on the football team and made him a cake. One of the main events in FHA is the Sweetheart Banquet. The girls took their fathers to Reed's Bakery where they were served a buffet. Renee Elliott, president, recited a poem called "A Letter to Dad." Some of the girls also modeled clothes they had made in their homemaking class. At the hot chocolate Christmas party, Connie Bertrand was elected Christmas Angel. Canned goods for needy families were required to attend this party.

They include LeAnn Sheppard, song leader; Karla Eshears, historian; Kim Burrows, first vice-president; Renee Elliot, president; Connie Bertrand, second vice-president and Patty Miller, treasurer.

FFA RECEIVES TOP HONORS

Future Farmers of America entered many contests during the school year. At these contests members were graded on how well they judged different livestock categories. They also entered their own livestock for which they won many awards. To be a member of FFA one must be enrolled in an Ag. class. In these classes one studies plant and animal science and also small engine repair. Often field trips are taken to such places as meat companies and to see the livestock students have been raising. At the Town and Country Fair, FFA had the balloon throw and dunking booths set up. It appears to Marlon Jackson that someone has a very good arm. On January 6, the annual FFA Sweetheart pageant was held in the auditorium. Twenty-two girls were entered in this pageant. They were judged on poise, grace and their answers to various questions. The FFA officers, Matthew Reue, president; George Crowson, vice president; Cindy Roper, secretary; David Reue, chaplain; Greg Goodrum, sentinel; Mark Beaver, treasurer and Mike Peterson, reporter, presided at this event. The FFA members voted on the girl they thought would best represent them in district competition, their choice was Brenda Harper. Brenda went on to receive Sweetheart out of girls from 35 Houston Area schools.

During district convention, held at Forest Brook High School, members were eligible to run for district representatives. The Rayburn chapter also entered a scrapbook in competition. The Christmas party, given at Mrs. Swain's house, was a success. Members traded gag gifts and also brought toys for needy children. FTA members traveled to San Antonio for the state convention on February 25 and 26. Here they listened to speakers who discussed the aspects of a teaching career.

The Spanish Club's first activity was a Halloween party. This "get to know each other" party was a great success, especially since the members attended one of the area spook houses. Afterwards the club retreated and had refreshments. In December, they also ate dinner at an area restaurant with other language clubs. For Christmas, they had a party at Anita Rose's house. There they exchanged presents and had refreshments. The Spanish Club members also went ice skating in January and as their final activity, they held a party to celebrate Cinco de Mayo, Mexico's independence from Spain. SPEECH CLUB HOSTS BALL TOURNAMENT

The Speech Club attended many contests, under the direction of Mrs. Butler. At these contests they entered many different categories and all the members placed well at the nine meets they attended. At the UIL contest on March 28 and 29, Kirk Oden and Preston Mitchell placed fourth in debate, Felicia Hyatt placed fourth in prose reading, Darin Hill placed fifth in poetry reading and Don Lenz placed second in informative speaking. Earning the second place award gave Don the chance to enter in the regional competition. The Speech Club held their annual picnic at Armand Bayou Park. Members of this club also sponsored the basketball tournament. This was open to any club or homeroom in the school. The winner of this tournament was presented a trophy. This activity was the main money making project for the speech club.

ACTORS LEAD "PLAY" LIVES

The International Thespian Society Troop 977 was an active club throughout the year. They celebrated the "homecoming" football game by selling "spirit rocks" made to order. They took normal rocks and with a little glue, ribbon, paint, and glitter, turned the rocks into creative money-making items. They prepared and performed a production of "Winnie the Pooh" for area elementary schools. During the Christmas season they had a progressive dinner. For the first time here at Rayburn, the Thespians formed a "mime" troop and performed pantomimed skits for the student body and for the Bluebonnet Belle program. In March they competed with the other schools by doing the play, "Comedy of Errors" by Shakespeare. At the end of the year, the Drama students who had earned enough points to become Thespians, were initiated at the Thespian Banquet. "Best Actor and Actress" awards were announced as well as various other awards. Mrs. Janice Levi led the Rayburn Thespians through an eventful year.

Guest speakers attended meetings to inform the members about the pros and cons of engineering careers. Other JETS clubs from other schools in the Pasadena District were invited to attend several meetings. In November, the club took a tour of the Johnson Space Center where they learned about the various engineering jobs available there. They ended the year with their trip to Texas A&M University to take competitive tests in Chemistry, Physics, Engineering, Math, and Biology, at the Annual JETS Convention.

The Spectrum, published by the creative writing club, consisted of poems, short stories, photographs, and drawings. The Creative Writing Club met every first and third Mondays to plan for their publication as well as their other activities. In the fall, they went to Herman Park to have a "Swap-box Lunch." Every member made a boxed lunch and exchanged it with someone else. The maker of the box was identified by a poem inside. On May 18 they held their Spring Banquet.

Joae Ruff is relieved that her work is finally done.

Evelyn Bravo excitedly encourages the students to buy the Spectrum, Rayburn's literary magazine.

Debbie Anoot, Lab Assistant; Terry Hooks, treasurer; Kelli Schwartz, secretary; Patty Hoffman, vice-president; and Curtis Sheppard, president; officers for 3rd trimester, look for stones to make jewelry.

GEOLOGY CLUB TAKES TRIPS

The Geology Club for the year was made up of Mrs. Higginbotham's geology classes from the three trimesters. They sold Turkey Bags at Thanksgiving in order to raise money for equipment. They went on a field trip overnight to West Texas where they explored and looked for different types of rocks to study. They attended a rock and mineral show at the Shamrock Hilton and also visited the National Science Museum in Houston. They went to the zoo and to Galveston. The club elected officers first and third trimesters. They learned about different stones and minerals and made a lot of beautiful jewelry.

Keith Neal wonders if the rock polishing machine in the geology workroom will work for a manicure.

As John Lyman works at the polishing machine, he wishes his project was rock candy as lunch nears.

Kelli Schwartz, secretary; Ricky Ward, vice-president; Darrel Lowery, president; and Pam McPhail, treasurer; examine rocks and other things. These geology students were elected by their classmates first trimester.

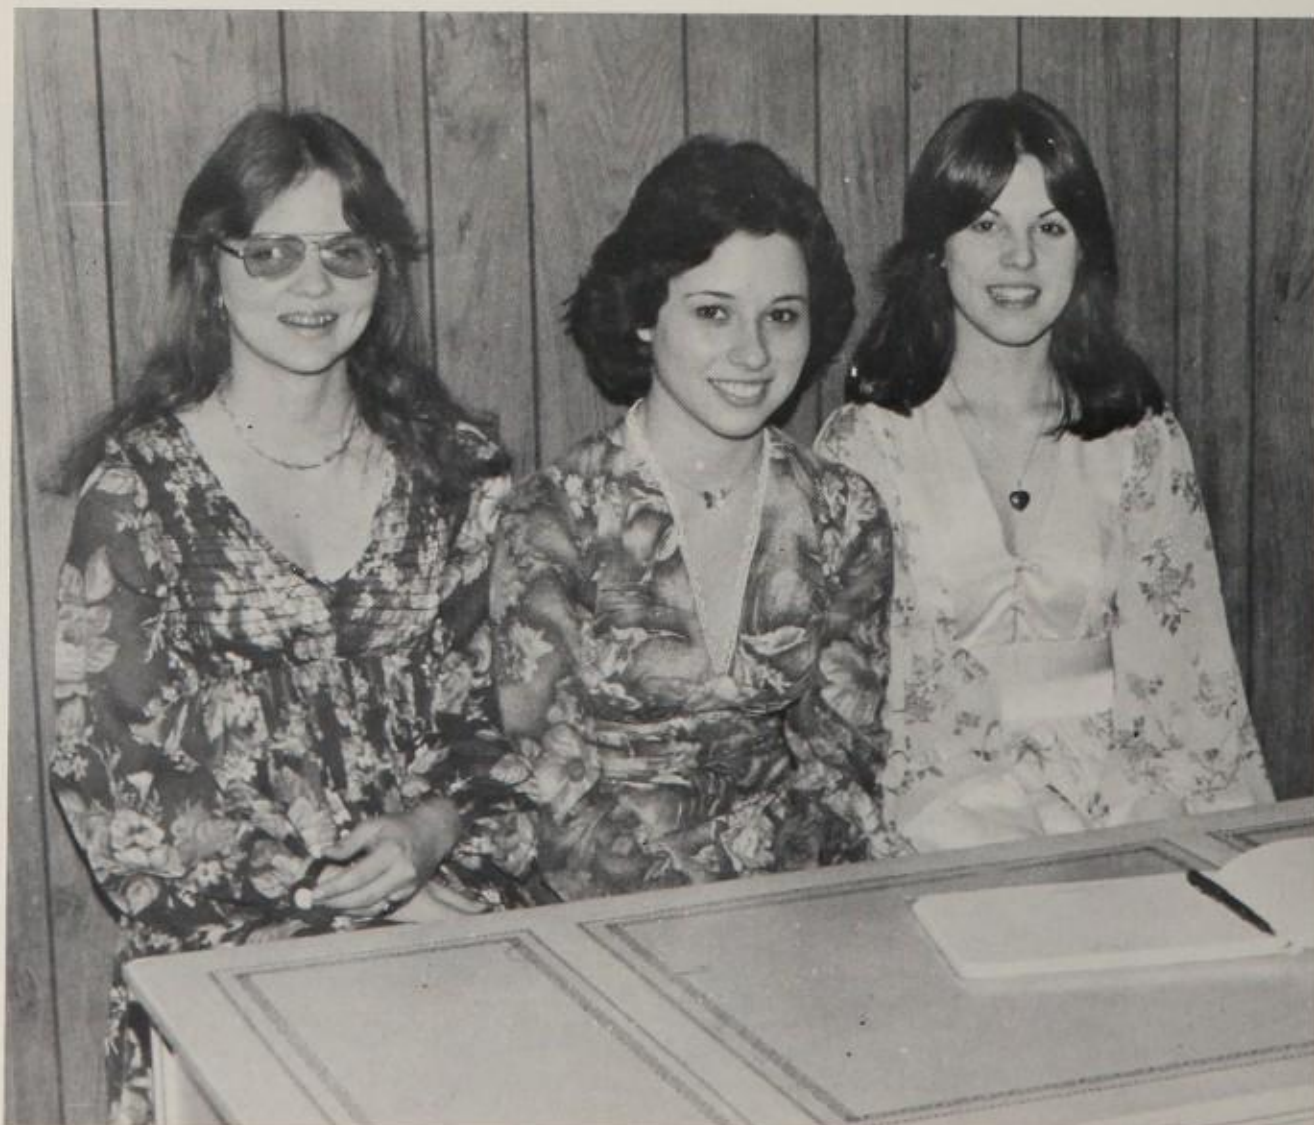

Connie Bertrand with Dr. C. Lee Meyer and Leslie Wright with Mr. Jim Griggs are enjoying themselves.

Ronnie Jordon stops what he's doing and swallows what he's chewing along with Mr. Charles Cooper, Jr., the head of Administration at Bayshore Hospital.

TAHOS EARNSEVEN AWARDS

T. A. H. O. S. along with other Vocational Clubs attended the P. I. S. D. Vocational Banquet at Reed's Bakery in January. They competed with other Health Occupation Chapters from all over Texas at the Astroworld Hotel in Houston and six students placed. Pam Blackmon placed first in Dental Assisting Notebook and fourth in Dental Assisting Skills. Jeanie Boike earned a first place in Medical Assisting Skills. Madeline Jewell received a first place in Health Care Science and Terri Broughton received a second place in Medical Assisting Skills. Leslie Wright placed second in Medical Lab and Ronnie Jordon earned a fourth place in the Respiratory Therapy Skills Contest. In addition to their fine exposition at the state contest, Mrs. Bole, sponsor, led the group through a progressive dinner X-mas party. The officers for TAHOS included; Jenny Boike, president; Jim Grant, vice-president; Charles Foster, parliamentarian; Connie Bertrand, treasurer; Lori Anderson, Sentinel; Madeline Jewel, recording secretary; Carol Vaut, corresponding secretary; and Leslie Wright, historian and area sentinel.

Tammy Kielman, Madeline Jewell, and Lori Anderson sit patiently while everyone signs in at the banquet.

Rick Neely, Chuck Waddel, Tina Vasquez, and Lucy Gonzales are having a good time working on a VOCT project.

Pam Mays and Craig Medford hang the Chapter Emblem.

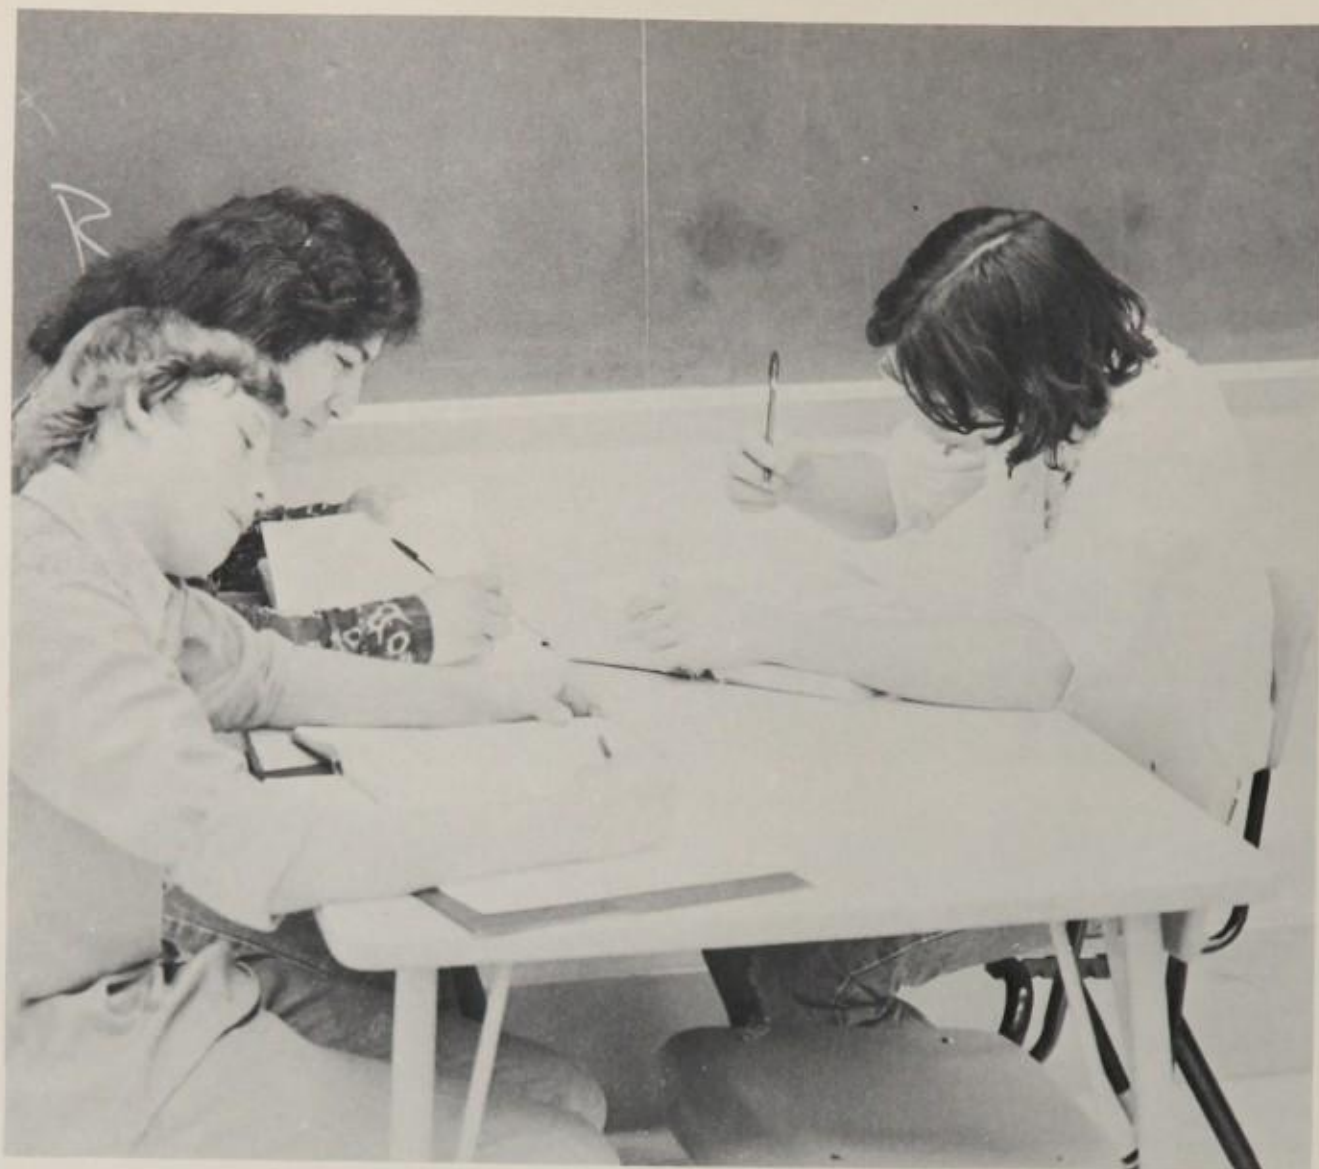

VOCT ATTENDS AREA CONTEST

The Rayburn Chapter of the Vocational Opportunities Clubs of Texas, under the leadership of Mrs. Ward and Mr. Ulrey, studied work opportunities in vocational fields. Students such as Jeff Warner worked the projector as the VOCT members watched films on the world of work. At Christmas the members stuffed and delivered stockings to children. A banquet was held for members of all vocational clubs in the district. The Chapter yearbook was given an excellent rating at an area contest. Lucy Gonzales and Tina Vasquez entered an exhibit and received a superior rating.

Danny Millman, Carlos Guzman, and Allen Lassetter work out of the World of Work textbook in the class.

ICT TEACHES VARIED SKILLS

Mr. Whitney, ICT sponsor, did his part in helping the Rayburn students to get jobs in many fields of industry. They could choose between carpentry, plumbing skills, machine and metal sheet work, auto mechanic skills, welding and many other closely related fields. Kimmy Martin and Chuck Powers placed at the competition at San Jacinto College held for ICT students. Kimmy placed first in sheet metal project and Chuck placed second in plumbing skill speed. The ICT officers include: Chris Palmer, president; Bennie Row, vice-president; Richard Schubert, secretary; David Suggs, treasurer; Kevin Sherman, parliamentarian; and Kimmy Martin, sergeant-at-arms.

David Pearce wonders if Mr. Whitney realizes how boring he is during a very long lecture concerning ICT.

Mr. Whitney dares anyone to steal his cookies.

CLUB SPONSORS DE NEWSPAPER

Distributive Education is an occupational orientation to the business world and the American economic system. Its purpose is to prepare high school juniors and seniors for careers in marketing and distribution. Students in D. E. are offered job opportunities in many fields. They take a classroom version of D. E. The Rayburn Chapter of D. E. combined with the other district Chapters held Free Enterprise Day on April 13, 1977. Students from district schools were excused from class to attend and hear the many qualified speakers on the program. An essay contest was held and Frances Borges won for Rayburn. On April 29, the D. E. special section of the PASADENA CITIZEN was spread all over Pasadena. It told about D. E. students and the places where they were employed. D. E. officers include: Rhonda Kay, president; Jessica Young, vice-president; Joni Gray, secretary; Cindy Cleven, treasurer; Virginia Baird, photographer; Doug Larson, reporter; and Sheila Holmes, historian.

VOE DISCOVERS OFFICE SKILLS

"Good morning, Office Education, may I help you? You need a receptionist or typist to work part time in your office? Yes, we have several qualified students who may come at your convenience for an interview." Employers in the Pasadena area know they can count on Rayburn Vocational Office Education students to be prompt and neat as well as to have skills in typing, filing, use of dictaphone, adding and calculating machines, and duplicating machines. Most VOE students first take a year of Pre Employment Laboratory in which they learn these basic skills. Then as seniors they are placed in actual business offices, in a training position, as bookkeepers, secretaries, receptionists, etc. This valuable (and profitable!) experience will mean more when, as graduates, they enter the business field full time.

Reporters for VOE this year were Renee Nicolosi and Brenda Rogers. Not pictured are the president, Lisa Marsh; and the vice-president, Cindy Jones.

Mrs. Brooks explains typing procedures to some third period Vocational Office Education students.

Karen Morton begs for money while selling candy in lunch for the VOE money making project in October.

Treasurer, Karin Kruse, gets a chuckle out of Mrs. Garrison's introduction to a film on Home Economics.

Donna Cowen enjoys HECE, at least she appears to.

Gellena Courville, vice-president; Cindy Ingle, historian, and Pam Paxton, recorder, seem to believe the HECE owl is really accepting phone calls.

Debbie Banister, secretary; Gellina Courville, and Valinda Foster, president; concentrate on checking out candy to make money for the Rayburn Chapter of Home Economics Cooperative Education Clubs of Texas.

HOMEMAKERS MAKE FRIENDS

The Home Economics Cooperative Education had a busy year. Mrs. Garrison sponsored the club by helping to find jobs for the members in fields related to homemaking. Throughout the year the students made occasional trips to Blalock Nursing Home to entertain and provide company for the patients there. During Christmas, they had a small party to celebrate the Yuletide spirit. They went to HECE class everyday during third period. The officers of HECE for the year included Valinda Foster, president; Gellena Courville, vice-president; Vicki Furlow, parliamentarian; Karin Kruse, treas.; Cindy Ingle, hist.; Debbie Banister, sec.; and Pam Paxton, recorder.

During the football season the color guard and NJROTC "Scimitars" Drill Team performed at the start of all home games. They inducted several people into the NJROTC Corps including Mr. Lomax, principal of Rayburn and "Billy Black Shoes," mascot of the organization. They competed in several competitions all over the area. Under the leadership of Sgt. Major Corral and Commander Wiggins the ROTC had an active year.

Senior Class sponsors were: Mrs. Alexander, Mr. Prejean, and Mr. McNeill. With the help of these sponsors, the officers and seniors completed many money-making projects. Later the senior class made $631.95 on T-Shirts, $298.25 selling panoramic pictures, and $847.55 on the Bluebonnet Belle Pageant. The Spirit Drive topped all other efforts, when Linda Callender and Mike Firestone collected $1,011.48. The money that was raised went to pay for the decorations and bands for the prom.

SENIORS RELAX

Seniors relax in classes, in the lunchroom and, at school activities. Seniors enjoy a few extra privileges such as being first into the pep rallies, taking advance classes, and going to Fisher Elementary to work with slower children. Seniors also have Senior Day which they get out of classes to attend. The Juniors serve the Seniors at a tea sponsored by the Junior Class. Seniors also get out of school about a week earlier than underclassmen.

The Senior class of 1977 dug into their pockets willingly raising $1,011.48. This money was contributed to the money for the decorations for the Senior Prom. Mr. and Miss Senior Spirit for 1976-1977 were elected by the senior homerooms. They are Mike Firestone and Linda Callender. Mike and Linda made spirit cans and went around to senior classes and to the lunchroom collecting money.

SENIORS ROCK OUT AT PROM

As Saturday night April 30, finally came, seniors who had planned dresses, tuxes, and flowers, waited at the doors of the Marriott Hotel Ballroom. Pictures were taken of each couple by a professional photographer. At 7:30 p. m. girls in their new dresses and boys in their tuxes and tails were served dinner. Greg Smith, Master of Ceremonies, announced Senior Spotlight and Senior Class Favorites. Amanda Talmadge announced Marc Blanchard and Judy Miller as Mr. and Miss Sam Rayburn. Amanda Talmadge also sang the class song, "Theme from Mahogany". "Fox River" and "Spectrum" provided the sounds. Slow, fast, western, and disco were danced into late hours. Seniors looked back at the past as there was a slide presentation shown of years before. Midnight marked the close of a night never to be forgotten.

FINISHED. YET JUST BEGINNING.

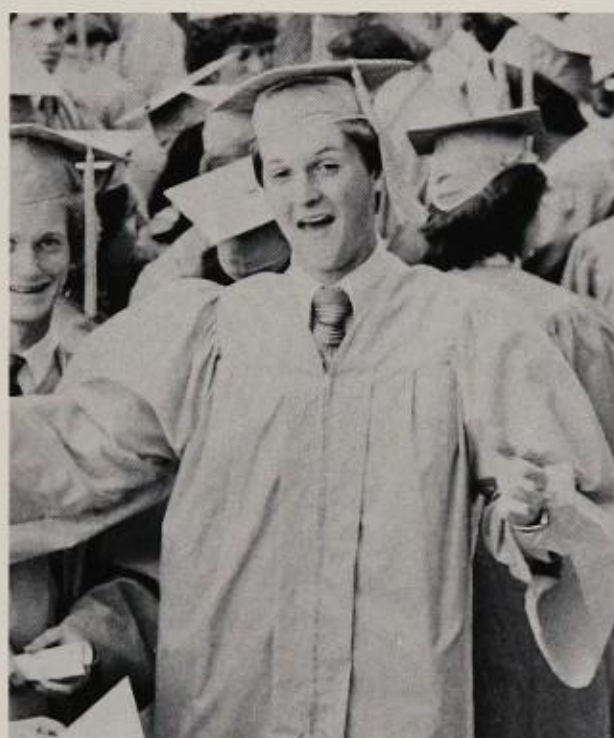

'77 SENIORS SAY GOOD-BYE

On May 18, first period started the day as seniors enjoyed their last class. After checking into second period Seniors were served tea by the Junior class. The Madrigal choir sang the class song "Theme from Mahogany". Seniors signed books, took pictures and exchanged cards. After the tea Seniors received their caps and gowns. Seniors were sad and teary-eyed as this day marked their next to the last activity together. Seniors say good-bye to many friends who they will never see again after their next meeting. They will go their separate ways: some to college, some to work, and some to marriage.

SENIORS MEET FOR LAST TIME

On May 23, Seniors waited impatiently at the rear doors of the Phillips Central Gymnasium. Seniors marched in on the first notes of the processional at 8 o'clock. Valedictorian, David Brent, gave the Invocation. The Address was presented to the audience by Preston Mitchell. Mr. Carter O. Lomax gave recognition to Honor Students, announced scholarship winners and gave the Certification of Senior class. Seniors then received diplomas from Mr. Jay Welch, Assistant Secretary, Board of Education. After the Alma Mater was sung by Mr. Tom Whitney, Don Lenz gave the Benediction. Seniors left the Commencement Exercises as free agents.

IN THE YEAR WE GRADUATE; CUZ WE'RE THE SENIORS OF '78!

JRS. SPEND ACTIVE YEAR

Under the direction of their sponsors: Mrs. Hanzelka, Mrs. Powell, Mr. Collins, and Mrs. Clark, the Junior class officers organized many projects. To start the year, Juniors had four bake sales. One bake sale was at Alameda Mall; the other three sales were at the school. Second, the Juniors sold stationery to raise money. In December, Juniors sold cheese and sausage which could be used as Christmas presents. Also, the selling of Valentine carnations was organized by the officers and sponsors. Other projects not for money-raising were the Senior Tea and the orphanage's gift. Obviously, much work went into all of these projects to raise money for the big event: the 1978 Prom.

Juniors Pat Frolick and David Thompson observe how the girls have transformed over the summer months.

JUNIOR TEXANS DISPLAY MANY EXPRESSIONS

The 1976-77 school year was a very exciting year for Rayburn juniors. Their efforts in promoting spirit for Sam Rayburn were very helpful. Through their efforts to promote the Texan spirit, they showed many expressions; some of happiness; and some of sadness; but all expressions were those that only come once in life—in High School! The faculty and the whole student body seemed to notice the juniors were on their way up!

SENIORS '78

PLAN FUTURE

The Seniors of '78 spent some of their junior year remembering pleasant times of their underclassmen years and planning ahead for the years to come. In addition to all of this, much of their time was spent in raising money. During the spirit drive, Rick Mareno and Nanette Robinson served as Mr. and Miss Spirit. They collected approximately $600 from their junior classmates. This money would be spent in that all important senior prom that was quickly approaching. They took all their spare time in a "fun and easy" style however, because they seemed to realize that there would never be a time quite the same as high school.

Nanette Robinson stares patiently as she is hoping to obtain 'eye to eye' contact with her dream boy.

JUNIORS SHOW MANY TALENTS

A majority of the juniors of '77 participated in extra-curricular activities throughout the year. Some of these activities required devoted hours of practicing and many lessons as to how to best display their talents. Many Junior girls worked to be part of the Tex-Anns drill team. Others worked to promote school spirit as Rayburn cheerleaders. The Texas Band contained many Juniors and Juniors were found leading the band as twirlers. The varsity teams in football as well as baseball, basketball, and track were composed of many Juniors not to mention golf, swimming, and tennis team's hard-working Juniors. Volleyball and bowling were other activities enjoyed by the Seniors of '78. These activities and many others all worked together to provide the atmosphere needed to make Rayburn a great place to be in 1977.

The second year of high school was a year to remember for the sophomore class after they knew the school and never got lost anymore, many began to feel more at home. Some were selected for various activities that play a big part in the Texan culture. As the year went on some sophomores began to pair off into couples. These couples were supposedly never to be "broken up." But in almost every case one partner came up with "I want to Blow-It-Off" and it would all be over. Along with dating came another matter. Many sophomores would turn 16 and that meant nothing but getting their driver's license and maybe a car. Many sophomores looked forward to their junior year realizing that there were only two years left of school and then—the seniors of 1979. With this thought the sophomores were encouraged to work hard at their studies and achieve the best grades.

SOPHOMORES GO BANANAS

The sophomore class can really show enthusiasm when something like a pep rally comes around. Toby Meyers and Ronnie Risinger were selected to compete in the banana-eating contest. They had to eat as many bananas possible in a limited time period. Each class picked two people to compete in the contest. The boys ate as many as they could and when the banana peelings were counted, the sophomores had come in third place. Many bananas were eaten during this contest. There were sore stomachs, too.

SOPHOMORES DEVOUR THE SR CAFETERIA DELICACIES

Food seems to drive the sophomores crazy. The lunch bell rings and the rat race begins. After a student rushes through the lunch line he then has to frantically find a place to sit. Then, finally, he can ravish the "yummy" food. The food really is good considering how much it costs. Kayla Johnson expresses her own ideas about it. This is the only way she can let the ladies in the cafeteria know how much she loves their food. Ginger Wilson must be on some kind of chocolate diet. She seems to be in a daze after eating 15 candy bars. Trudi Davis wishes she could take a couple of the candy bars off Ginger's hands. Mrs. Roller and her staff deserves alot of credit for their remarkable achievements. The students thank you, ladies.

Sophomores enjoy the Sam Rayburns pep rallies.

SOPHOMORES GENERATE THE TEXAN SPIRIT

School pep rallies were highlighted greatly by the sophomore class. The sophomores, along with others, organized small routines and skits that entertained the students and teachers. The skits consisted of small dance-like mostly that added much enthusiasm. Mostly they were made to show spirit and to put down the opposing team. The sophomores made-up chants and cheers to use at any game and pep rally or just any place they came natural. The class added much spirit to Sam Rayburn's society and backed the "Mighty Texans" immensely.

Sophomores show how strong the Texans are at games.

'WISE FOOLS' AWARDED PINS

Many sophomores received recognition for their 4.0 averages during their freshman year. The students that met this 4.0 average also received the academic excellence honors and were distributed a small gold pin. The ceremony for the students was semi-formal and a reception was given. The theme was "Halloween."

AIDS DRIVE

Each year a spirit drive is held where students pitch in money in order to raise the highest amount. Each class chooses a boy and girl to represent Mr. and Miss Spirit. The sophomores selected Susan Elison and Kirk Freytag to lead their spirit drive. Susan and Kirk worked hard along with the sophomores to beat the other classes. A full week of raising money was the time limit. Everyone helped in the event including the sophomore class sponsors, Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Borja, Mrs. Campbell, and Mr. Rosenbaum. The sophomores finished in third place behind the juniors.

The first year at Sam Rayburn was a good one for the freshmen. High school seemed so much more mature than junior high. They learned to cooperate with the teachers and take hard matters into more consideration. The freshmen were always being pushed around and seemed to regret being freshmen every day. Many girls found out they had qualified for the drill team, basketball, volleyball and track teams. They joined new clubs and organizations to begin their activities at Rayburn. Many boys made the football, basketball, baseball, and track teams. Each of them were setting a good secure background for themselves. The freshmen had many dreams of becoming seniors; but while they were dreaming, the end of the year came and now they would be sophomores. All this adds up to their becoming the Seniors of 1980.

BANANA WEEK REIGNS AT SR

Go Banana Week at Rayburn proved to be an experience to all, especially to Freshman Kirk Lane and Randy Risinger. Even though the upper classmen won at the banana eating contest, the Freshmen put up a good fight. With three more years of practice the Freshmen still have a chance. It may have seemed a messy way to learn to compete with their fellow classmates but it proved to be a very funny experience. All the students that participated were good sports and all the observers seemed to enjoy it. This activity has been done before and it promotes school spirit.

FROSH HAVE ENTHUSIASM

The Freshman class worked really hard during Spirit Week at Sam Rayburn. All the students helped to make their total a good one. As a result of their effort they raised $250.00. Even though the upper classmen could give the money they earned from working, the freshmen gave their lunch money, allowances, and weekend spending money to help out their class. The Freshmen chose two people to represent them as Mr. and Miss Spirit for 1976 and they were: Raenette (Shorty) Lyons and Doug Hay. They were chosen for their spirit and their enthusiasm at pep rallies and also for their eagerness to help out their class.

FACES DISPLAY AMAZEMENT

Many various facial expressions can be found and examined through the happenings of the school day. Amazement, sorrow, happiness, and disgust are just a few of the many seen within the walls of Sam Rayburn High. Many of these emotions are witnessed on the faces of freshmen. Amazement is displayed here by Christie White and Denice Mills. A solitary freshman in content just taking time to eat by himself.

"If you don't get that camera out of here, I'll scream!" thinks Denice Mills to the cameraman.

FRESHMEN EARN AWARDS

The Freshman Academic Excellence Award recipients worked very hard their last year in junior high school in order to achieve their award. Some freshmen enjoy the excitement of walking across the auditorium stage. Frosh Tommy McClintock enjoyed getting to dress up to impress all the girls. Each student was presented a medal from their counselor for their efforts and hard work. If at the end of their fourth year at Rayburn, they again receive academic excellence they have a chance to earn a letter and a sweater. Their achievements could lead to membership in the National Honor Society their senior year.

SPONSORS ARE FANTASTIC AS FROSH. HEADS

The Freshmen had a successful year under the leadership of Miss Hollingsworth, Mr. Orr, Mrs. Garrison, and Mrs. Koonce. As sponsors of the freshman class they spent many hours making the projects of the freshmen successful. The officers with the help of these sponsors lit up the town with blue light bulbs during Pasadena week. They also sold Sam Rayburn decals as a money-making project.

PRINCIPAL

Sam Rayburn High School students have a very unique man. The principal, Mr. Carter O. Lomax. Any man that can handle anything from gum chewing to bomb threats must be a very highly skilled person.

Whenever problems needed solving or authorization was needed, he was always the one consulted. Not only did Mr. Lomax make sure everything ran smoothly here at Rayburn, but he was also responsible to the school board for everything that happened here at our school.

Between parents, faculty, and most of all students, he had to be able to make the decisions to make them all happy.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS

McCaffety, Genevieve; McKown, E. M.

The assistant principals here at Sam Rayburn High School have to listen to, and try to help, all the gripes coming from both students and parents.

Here Mr. Simpson and Mr. Vegas contemplate their days strategies. Mr. Vegas draws pictures of the lady who is yelling in his ear while Mr. Simpson calmly ponders the cafeteria situation.

Simpson, Welton; Vegas, Lucas

Another job of the assistant principals is to get to sit in the cafeteria and make sure the food goes in the mouths and not on the floor or in the air.

Mrs. McCaffety tries patiently to swallow her food after hearing the varsity football players talk about what they did one night during the summer while Mr. Simpson gives them one of those "boys" looks.

COUNSELORS

Adams, Barbara; Baccaro, Thomas

The counselors that the students have working for them at Rayburn have their work cut out for them. It all starts with the freshmen, the counselor is always the one to hear the complaints of a new and totally strange environment.

And no matter what grade the counselor is involved in, he or she always hears the complaints of schedule changes. Then there is the senior counselor. The students have gone through four years of high school and now need the counseling for their life ahead.

No matter how busy the counselors are they always seem to find the time to help students. A problem may be from an argument at home to a serious situation at school.

Without this help and guidance many of the students at Rayburn would have never been able to have made it through their high school years.

Goodwin, Truman; Lewis, Herbert; Maggio, Pearl

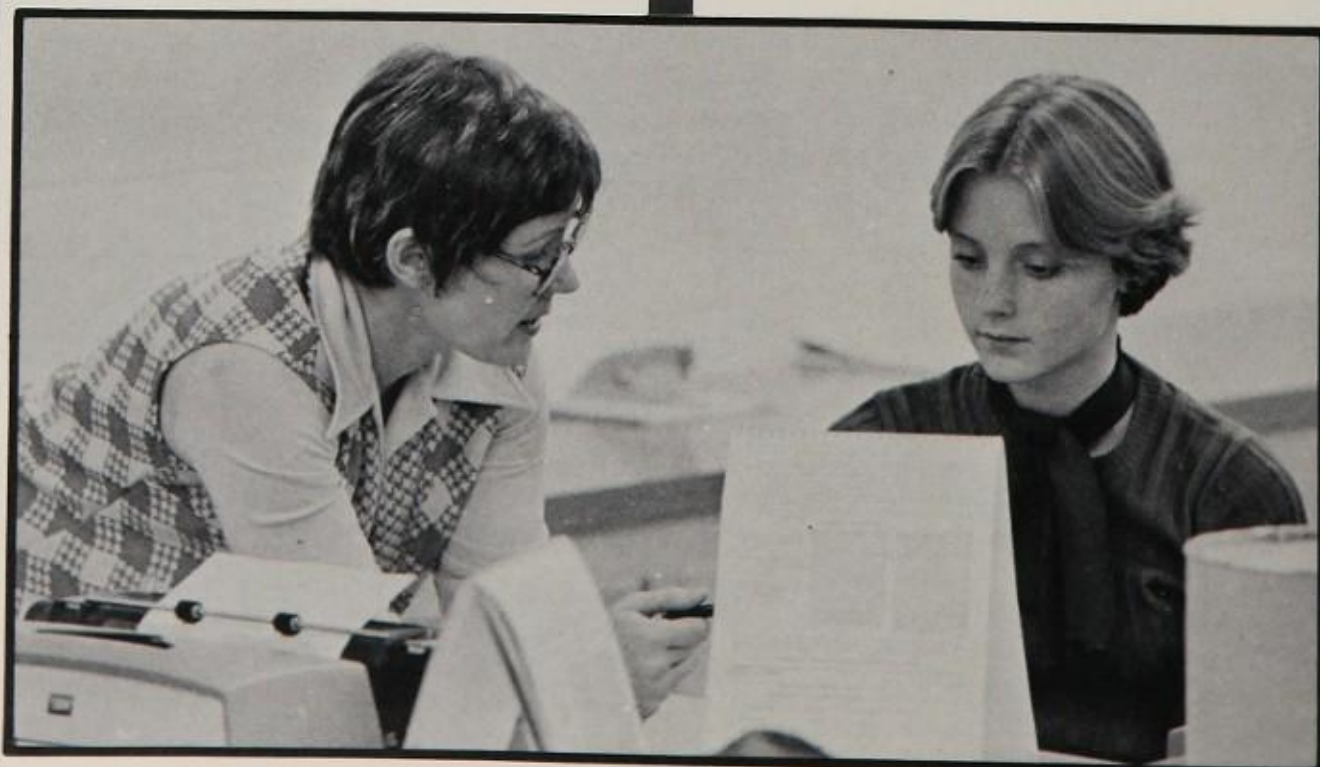

BUSINESS

Brooks, Betty; Hicks, Judith; Kocian, Juanita; Powell, Eleanor

The business courses offered here at Sam Rayburn High School help the students in learning how to operate properly and efficiently all different types of business machines which will help them get a good job.

Like everything else in the world sometimes these machines breakdown, but nevertheless the teachers do their best to prepare the students for the hectic world of business.

Verducci, Eva

HISTORY

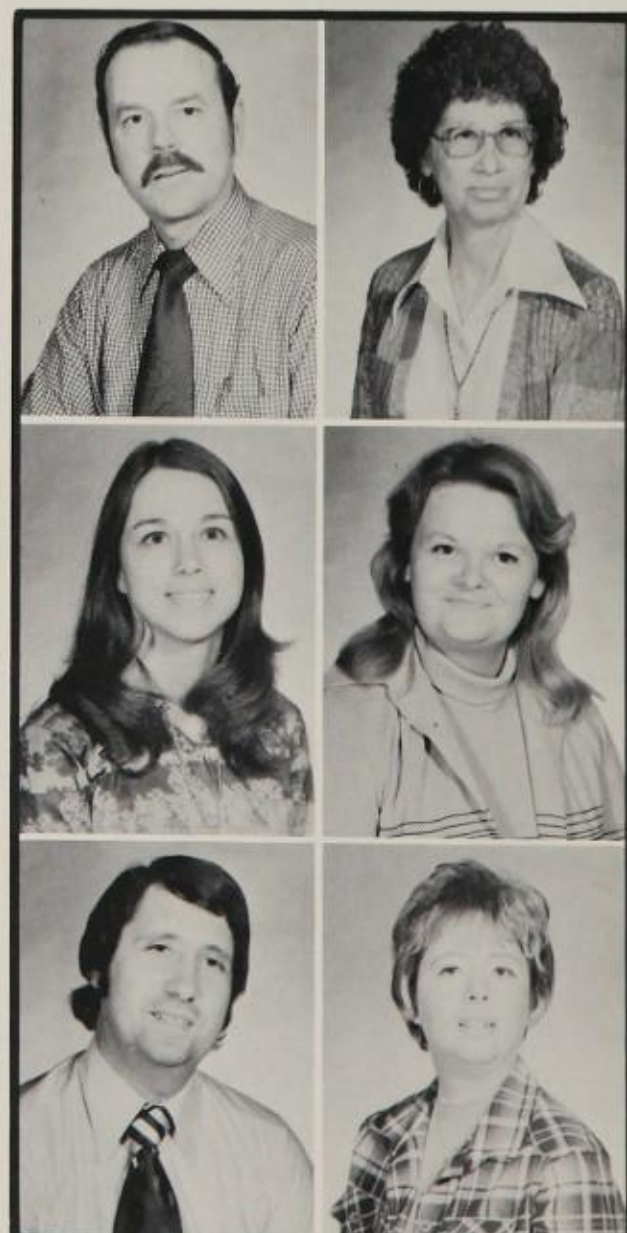

Baker, Robert

Mr. Lessner shows his government students the importance of knowing about our country's constitution.

Battle, Lynn; Fowler, Kenneth;
Hollingsworth, Linda; Horst, Lance;
Lloyd, Geneva; McNeil, John;

Rosenbaum, Mel; Sanders, Margaret;
Shuman, Toni; Sparks, Barbara;
Thompson, Bill; Trumble, Janet.

Mr. Thompson is telling his class about the wide world which his world history class is studying about.

ENGLISH

Brown, Homer; Butler, Wanda; Chambers, Jo; Clark, June; Cooley, Marcie; Darling, Peggy; DeLong, Diane; Henderson, Patricia; Koch, Jean; Lavender, Violet.

Levi, Janice; Polgue, Betsy; Swain, Mary; Vance, Pat.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Campbell, Pat; Stone, Sara; Terry, Peggy.

Mrs. Stone is wondering if that fluent Spanish she hears from the back of the room is really coming from her Spanish 1a student.

Mrs. Campbell doesn't believe that her French student is concentrating about French.

Mrs. Terry listens politely as her Spanish students stutter through their reading.

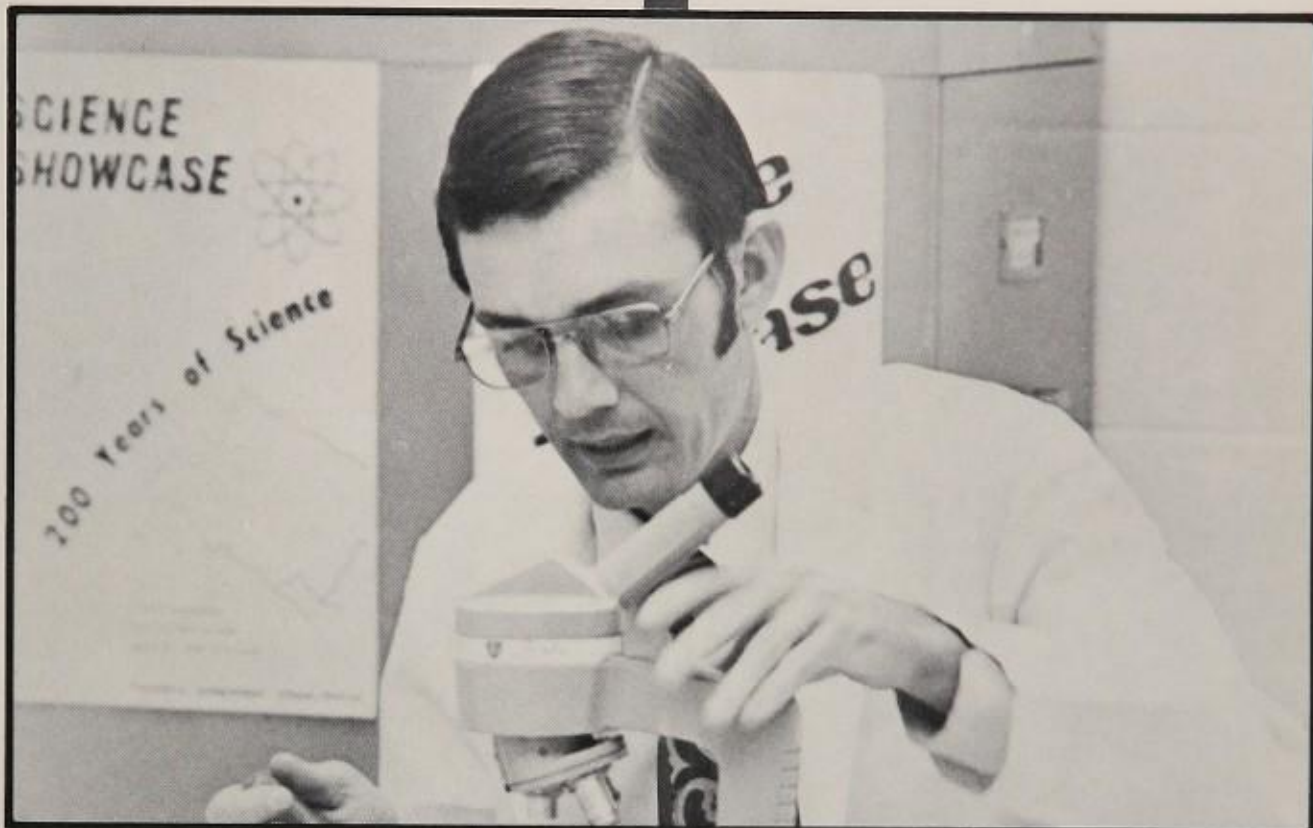

SCIENCE

Borja, Beatrice; Crawford, Raymond;
Collins, James; Davis, Jeanne.

Mr. Collins, the head of the science department, is conducting his own experiment entitled "Fix the Microscope." It is said that many of the science teachers are caught doing this experiment.

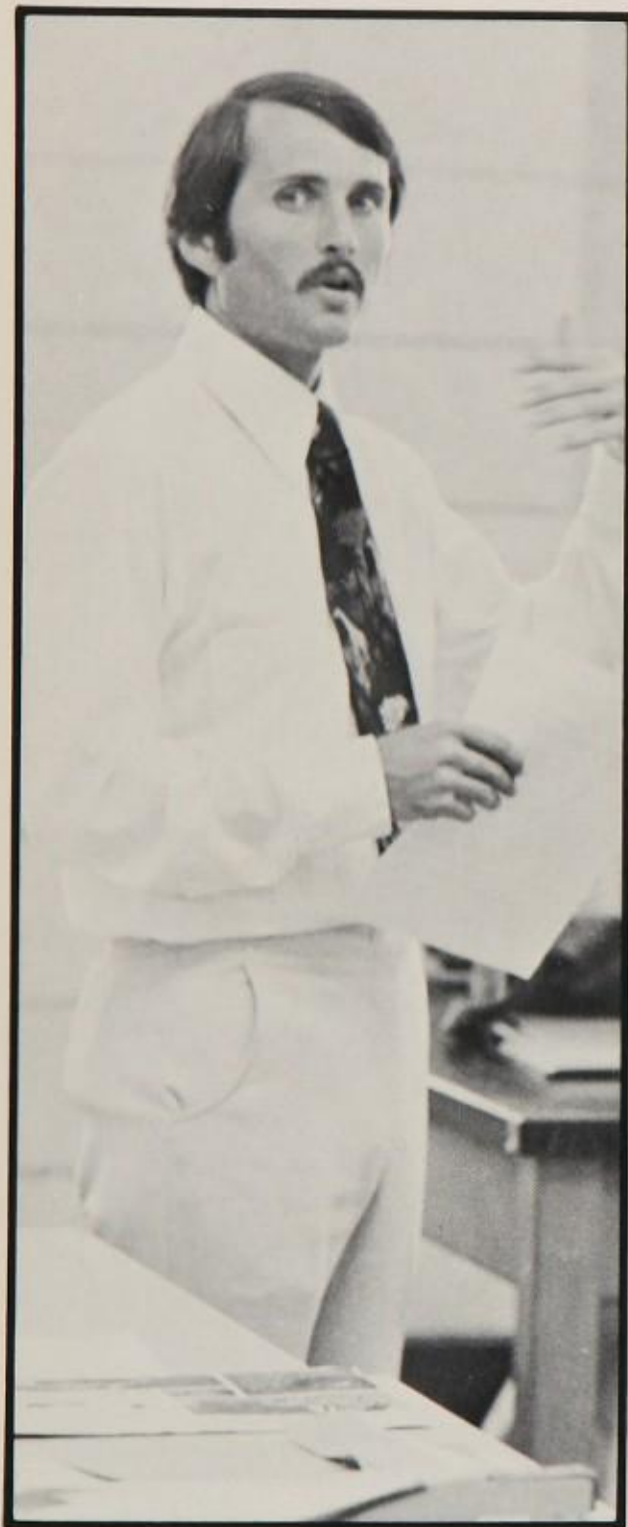

Mr. Crawford explains the different equations used in the chemistry classes here at Rayburn. Connie Bertrand is still confused.

Mr. Rucker explains to his Biology class that if they would just read their lab, that dissecting the frog would be as easy as cutting pie.

Higginbotham, Kristi; Koonce, Marceil;
Nix, Edna; Prejean, Gene

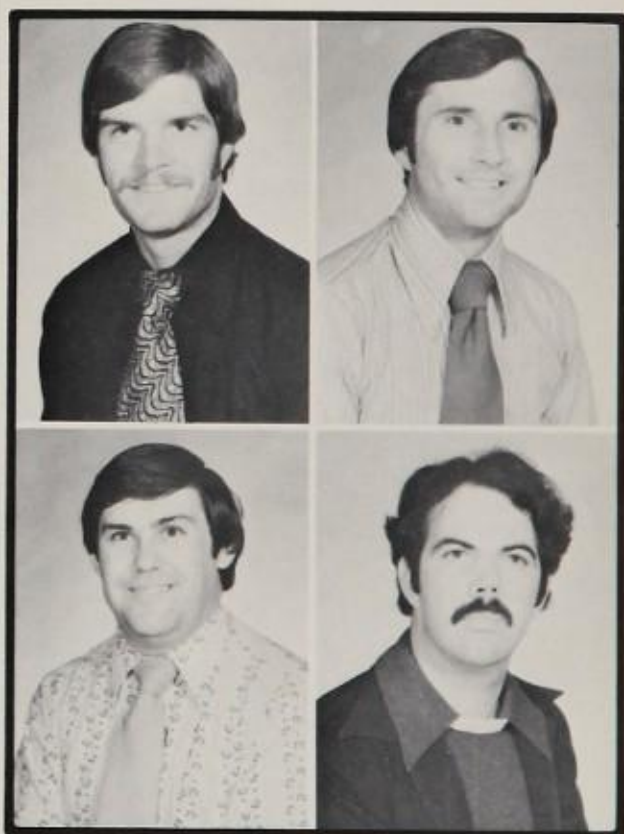

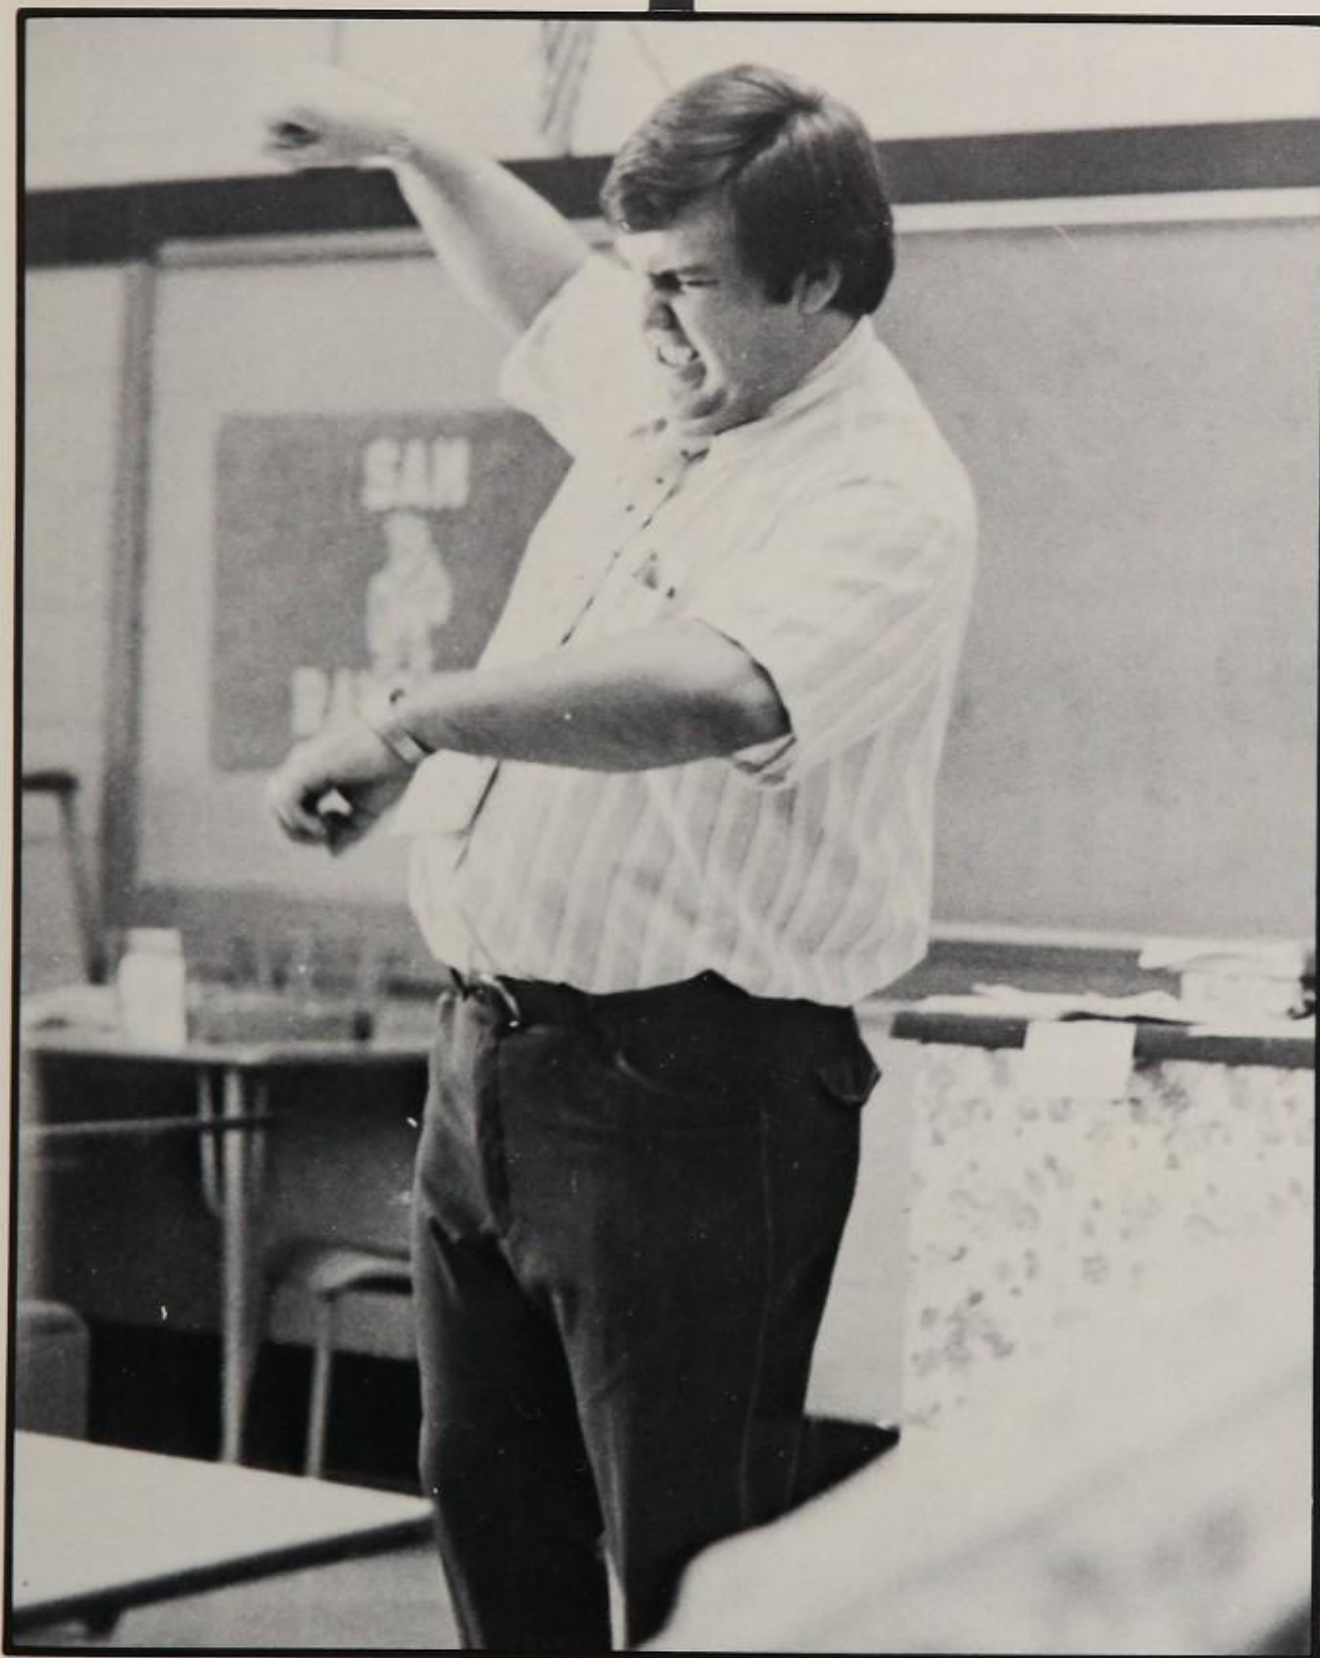

"You want to study what?" Mr. Prejean asks to the girl sitting on the front row of his Biology 1b class.

Mr. Teichelman shows his science class how he opened a box he found in the science storage closet.

Mrs. Nix simply is going to walk out after trying to explain the periodic table to her Chemistry 1a class for the seventh time in the past hour.

Roye, Tim; Rucker, Larry; Teichelman, Dennis; Williams, George Robert.

VOCATIONAL

Mrs. Ward explains to the coaches how she teaches her students to go out and get a job. "You just follow these few instructions on this sheet." Mrs. Ward says.

Mr. Whitney has another idea of job hunting. "You stand there with your arms folded and talk to them tactfully." he says demonstrating to Mrs. Vance.

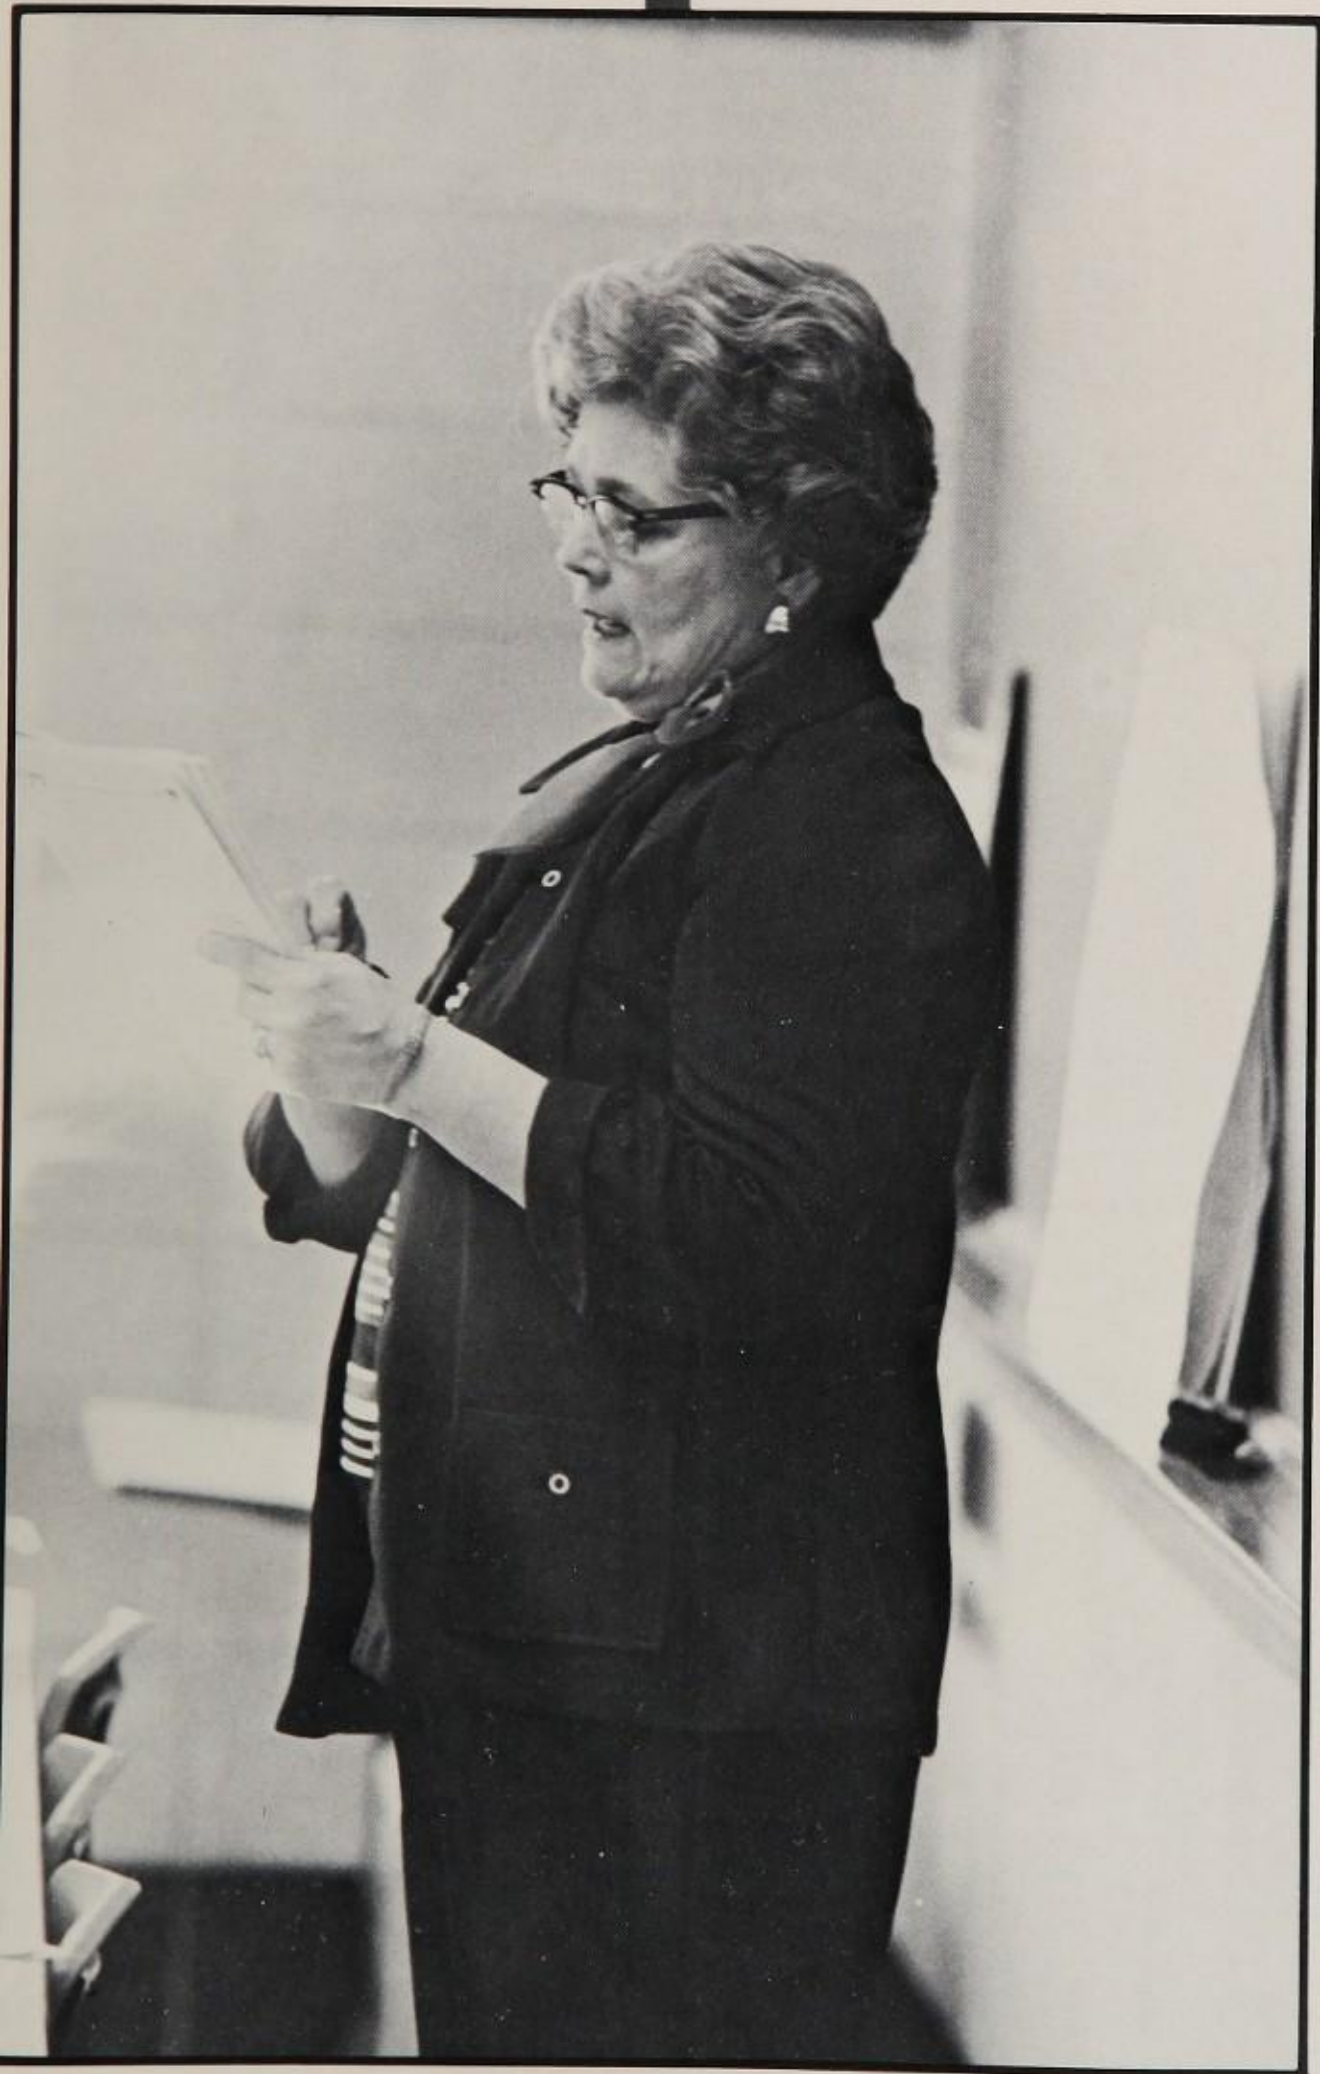

Davis, Barbara; Morgan, Dottie; Ulrey, John; Whitney, Tom.

Mrs. Dykes tells her Homemaking classes that if you follow the rules in the book you will be the best homemaker that there ever was.

The Homemaking classes at Rayburn teach one the proper ways and techniques of cooking, sewing, and food and diet care.

Dykes, Lela; Garrison, Kathy; Foster, Maynel; Preston, Carolyn; Doyle, Jr., Harland; Grant, Theo; Sefton, Leon; Vahrenkamp, Ralph; Wood, Daniel.

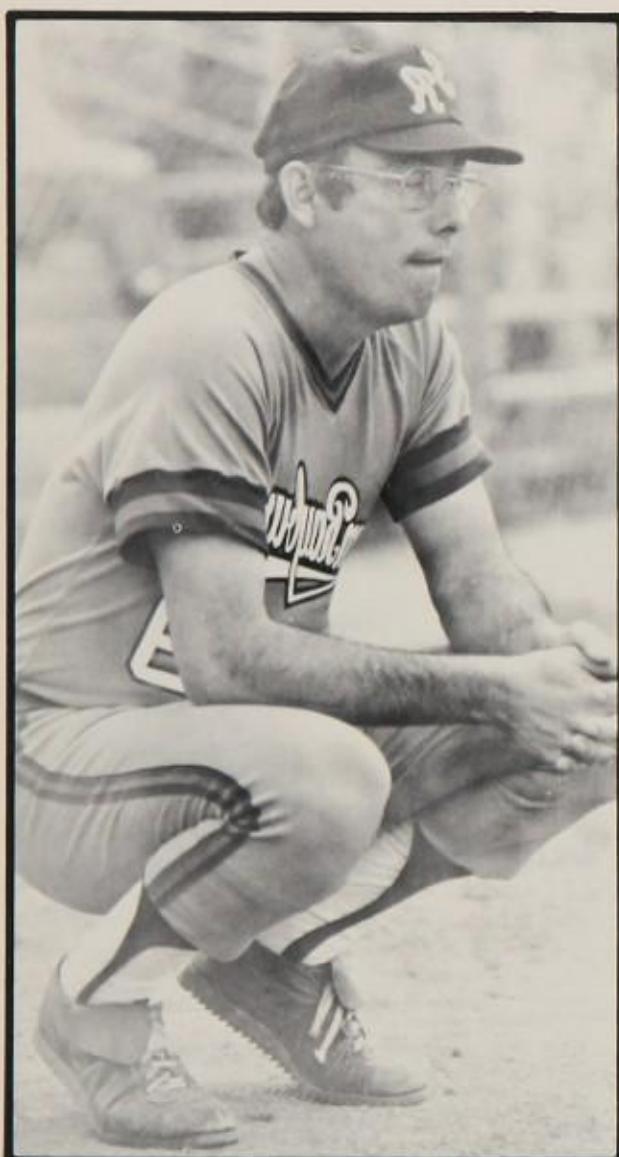

COACHES

Coach Campo is in deep concentration about the next boy coming up to bat in the last inning of one of the baseball games.

Coach Barker seems to be having some heavy discussion about the next basketball game.

Olive, Apple; Baker, Betty; Barker, James; Campo, Al.

Not even rain will keep Mrs. Baker from watching "her" Tex-Anns.

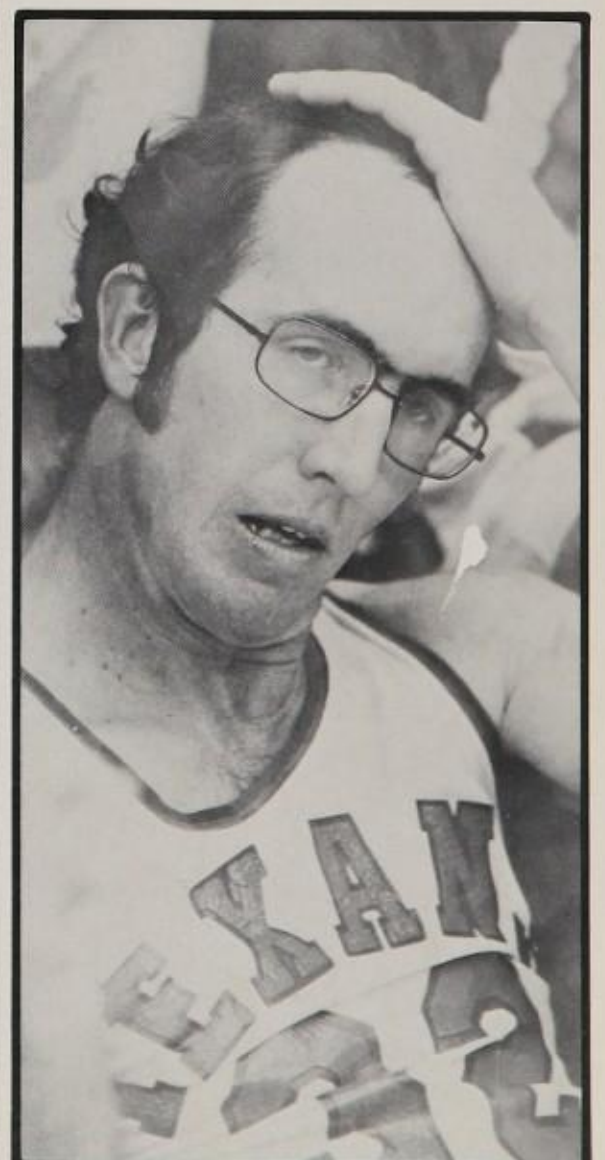

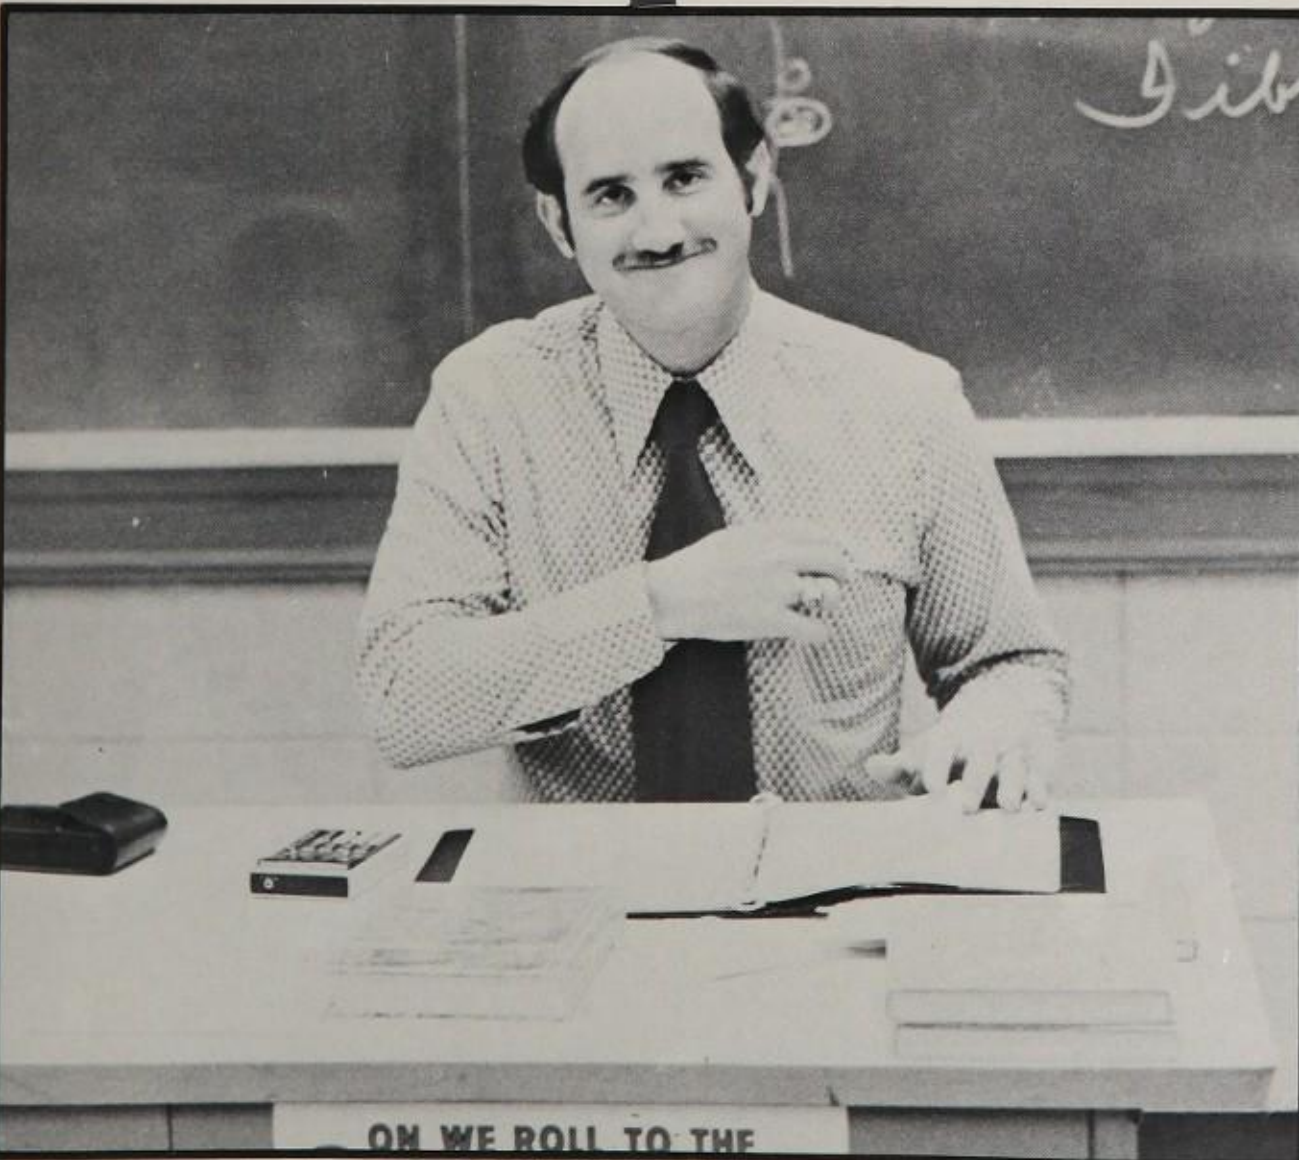

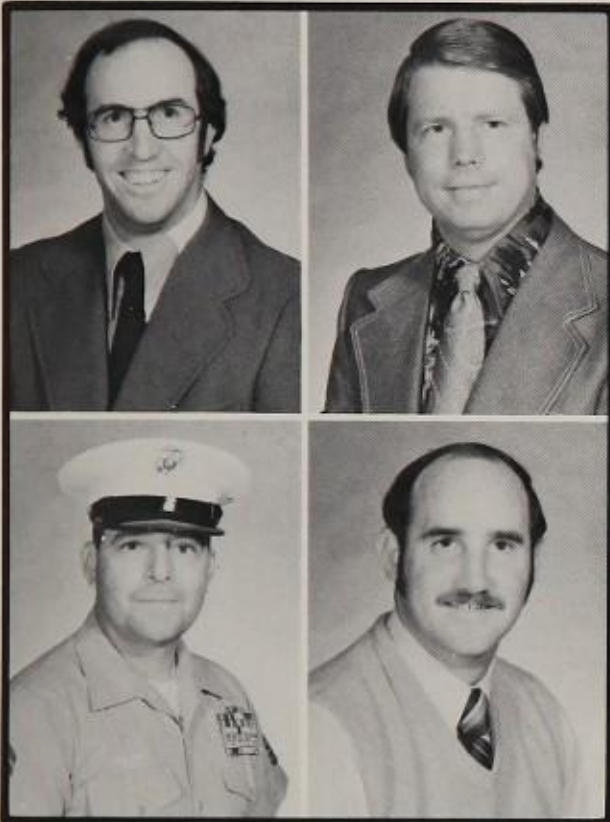

Carpenter, Ron; Carter, J. B.; Corral, Robert; Harrington, Richard.

Coach Carter was just told that he has the job of writing up all the game strategies for the rest of the basketball season.

It looks as if the Oilers worked over Coach Carpenter fairly well in the Faculty vs. Oilers basketball game.

Coach Harrington grins at the thought of girl football players.

ON WE ROLL TO THE

Coach Lyles, the head coach, is delivering one of his famous pep rally speeches before a football game that night which he wants everyone to attend.

Coach Matthews does not believe that one of the star football players has just caught the flu on the day of a very important game.

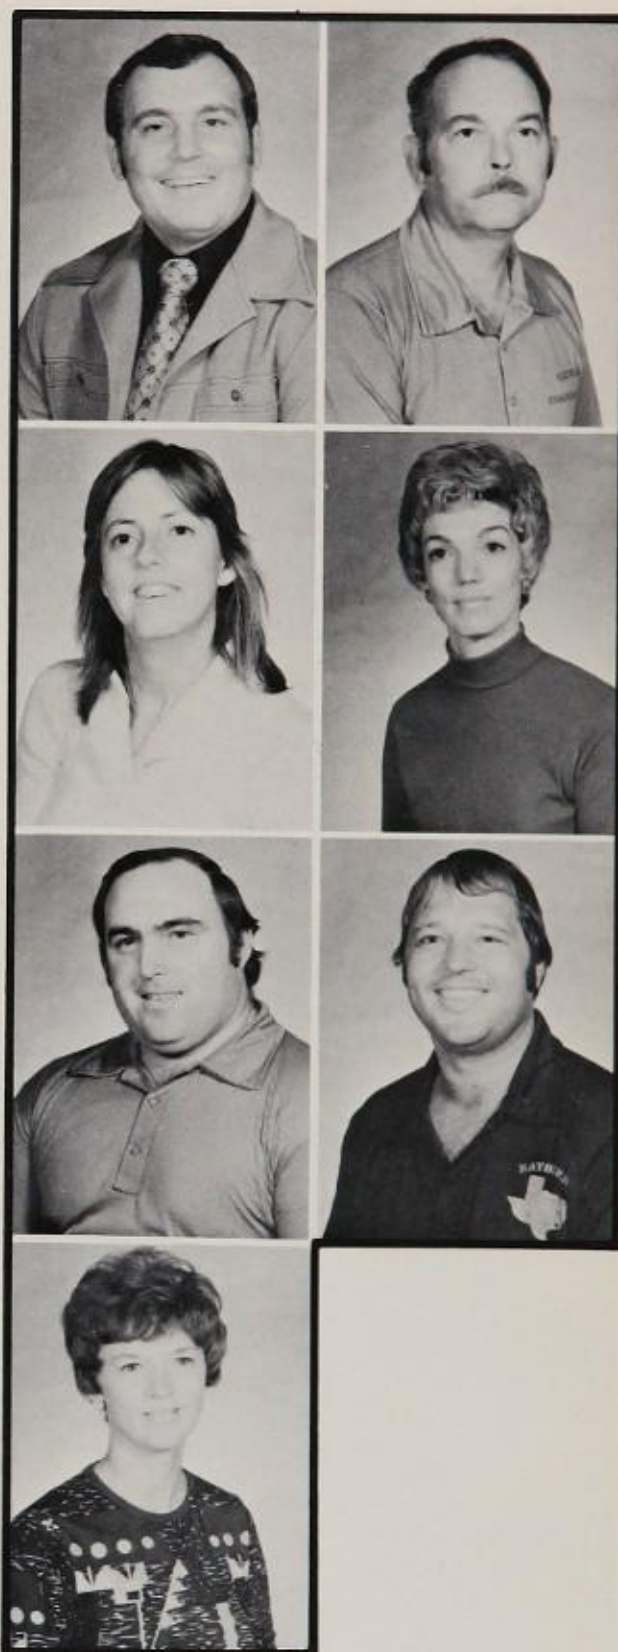

Odell, Harrison; Johnson, Don; Landry, Robert; Lyles, Charles; Matthews, Fred; Powell, Deborah.

Coach Venable is trying to tell Coach Lyles that his plays just don't seem to be working or that it might be that the other team's players are all monsters just literally breaking up our boys.

Coach Probandt shows his spirit by buying something from the Sam Rayburn Booster club which was selling shirts, jackets and caps.

Probandt, Gerard; Raby, E. W.; Sellers, Catherine; Selman, Gay; Taylor, Bob; Venable, Mike; Weir, Jeanie

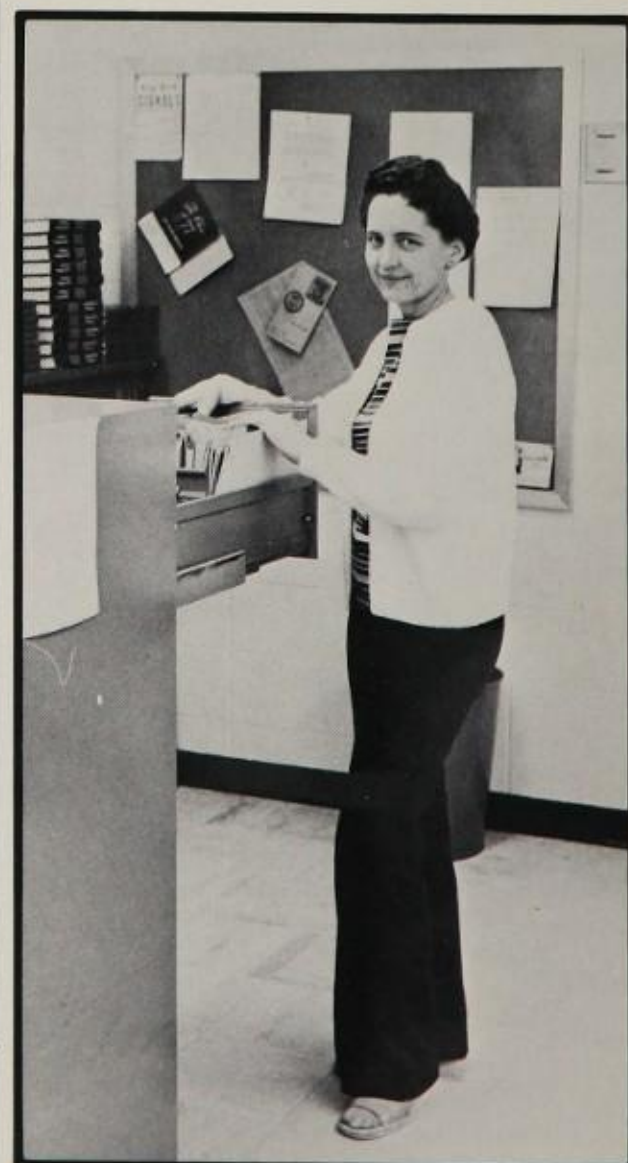

TEACHERS

AIDES

Buell, Ethel; Clark, Sue; Middleton, Shirley; Smith, Nettie

The teachers aides seem to be doing something all of the time. They were either busy typing tests and worksheets or even drawing diagrams at times.

Mrs. Clark seems to be taking the whole thing of being a teacher's aide as a joke, who could possibly ask her to type up 190 tests in one hour!

Goodwin, Lillian, Special Ed.; Hartman, Dorothy, Special Ed.; Avera, Ann, Nurse; Lofton, Evelyn, Nurse; McWhorter, Bobbie, PBX Operator; Wadlington, Marian Registrar.

Mrs. Lofton, a school nurse, finally gets to sit down and relax for a minute before she has to attend to another of Rayburn's illnesses.

Mrs. Goodwin, the special education teacher, is helping one of her many students in being able to understand their studies a little easier.

Carroll, Martha, Gen. Clerical; Curlee, Zolene, Computer Clerk; English, Delta, Secretary to Principal; Fleming, Maxine, Sec. to Ass't. Principal

Mrs. Nowak, another one of the attendance clerks, is trying her best to hear the excuse that is being used so one of the students can check out for the fifth time today.

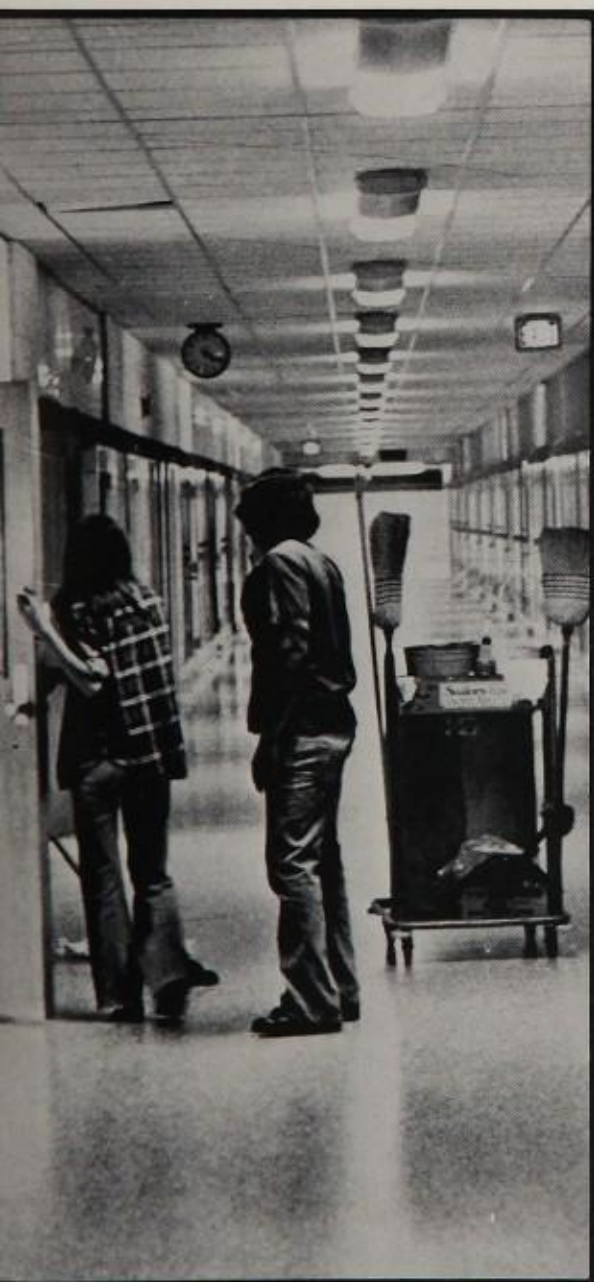

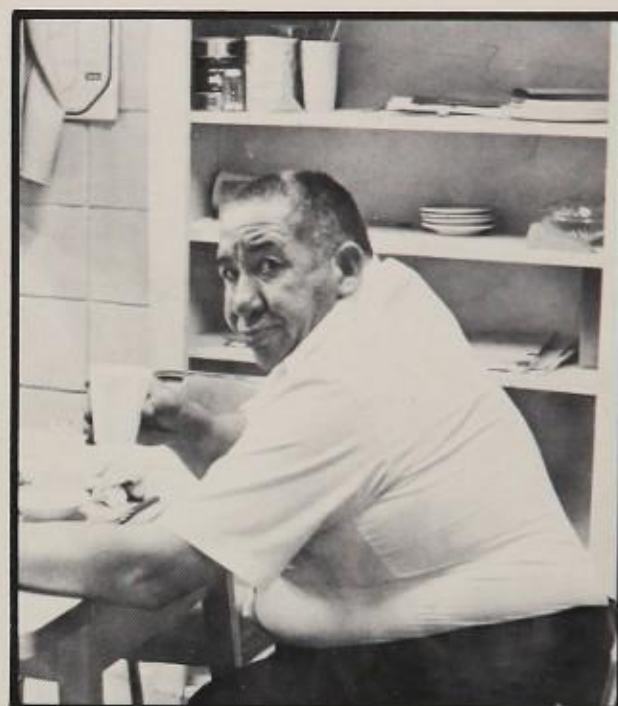

Mrs. Bennett, one of the attendance clerks, just knows that she has seen that boy earlier in the day and now nobody can seem to find him. Typical!

SPECIAL SERVICES

The lady who seems to be able to keep everyone happy is Mrs. Roller, the head cafeteria lady. Imagine going through the whole day without food.

Mr. Hernandez, the Head Custodian, tries to grin happily after hearing of the accident in the cafeteria which needs to be cleaned up.

CURRICULUM

Is it the Houston Symphony? Almost, it is the Sam Rayburn Orchestra performing at one of their many concerts they had during the school year.

Donna Meyers grins patiently while filling admits, delivering admits, and all the other jobs that an office assistant does.

The homemaking courses are so good that one could prepare a full course meal with his eyes closed and not even burn it.

Mrs. Borja teaches her students how to play tiddly-winks.

The ag students present their newly hatched chickens in these small crates and on other outrageous places such as on heads.

Mrs. Powell shows one of her typing students if you would just push the little buttons with the right fingers that the typewriter would work fine.

Nike Marr has discovered a way to go to sleep and still make it look like he is really very interested in what is shown under the microscope.

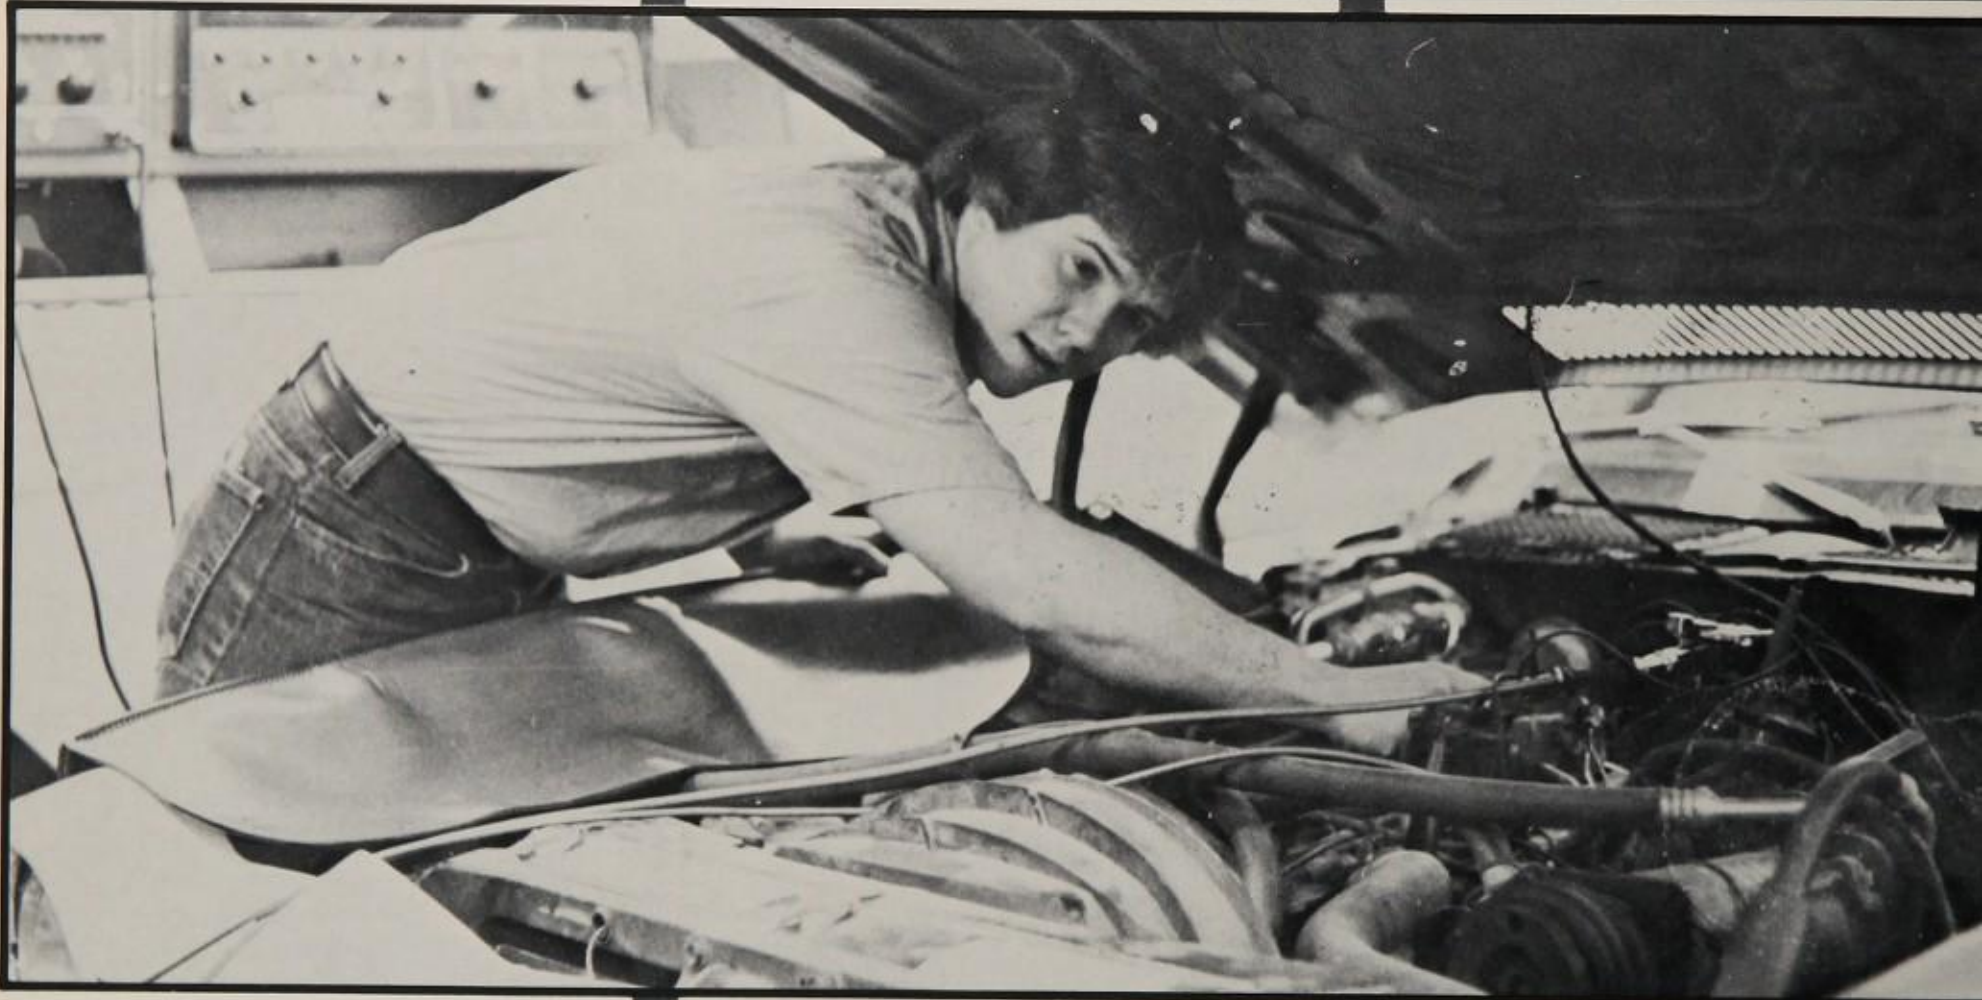

The sport of tennis tends to bring out the beast in students.

"Now if I just turn this little knob this jalopy will purr like a kitten," exclaims Peter Frolick during one of his auto mechanic classes.

Hugh Gault knows that boy sitting next to him is not singing the music like it was taught to them but he doesn't know quite what to do about it.

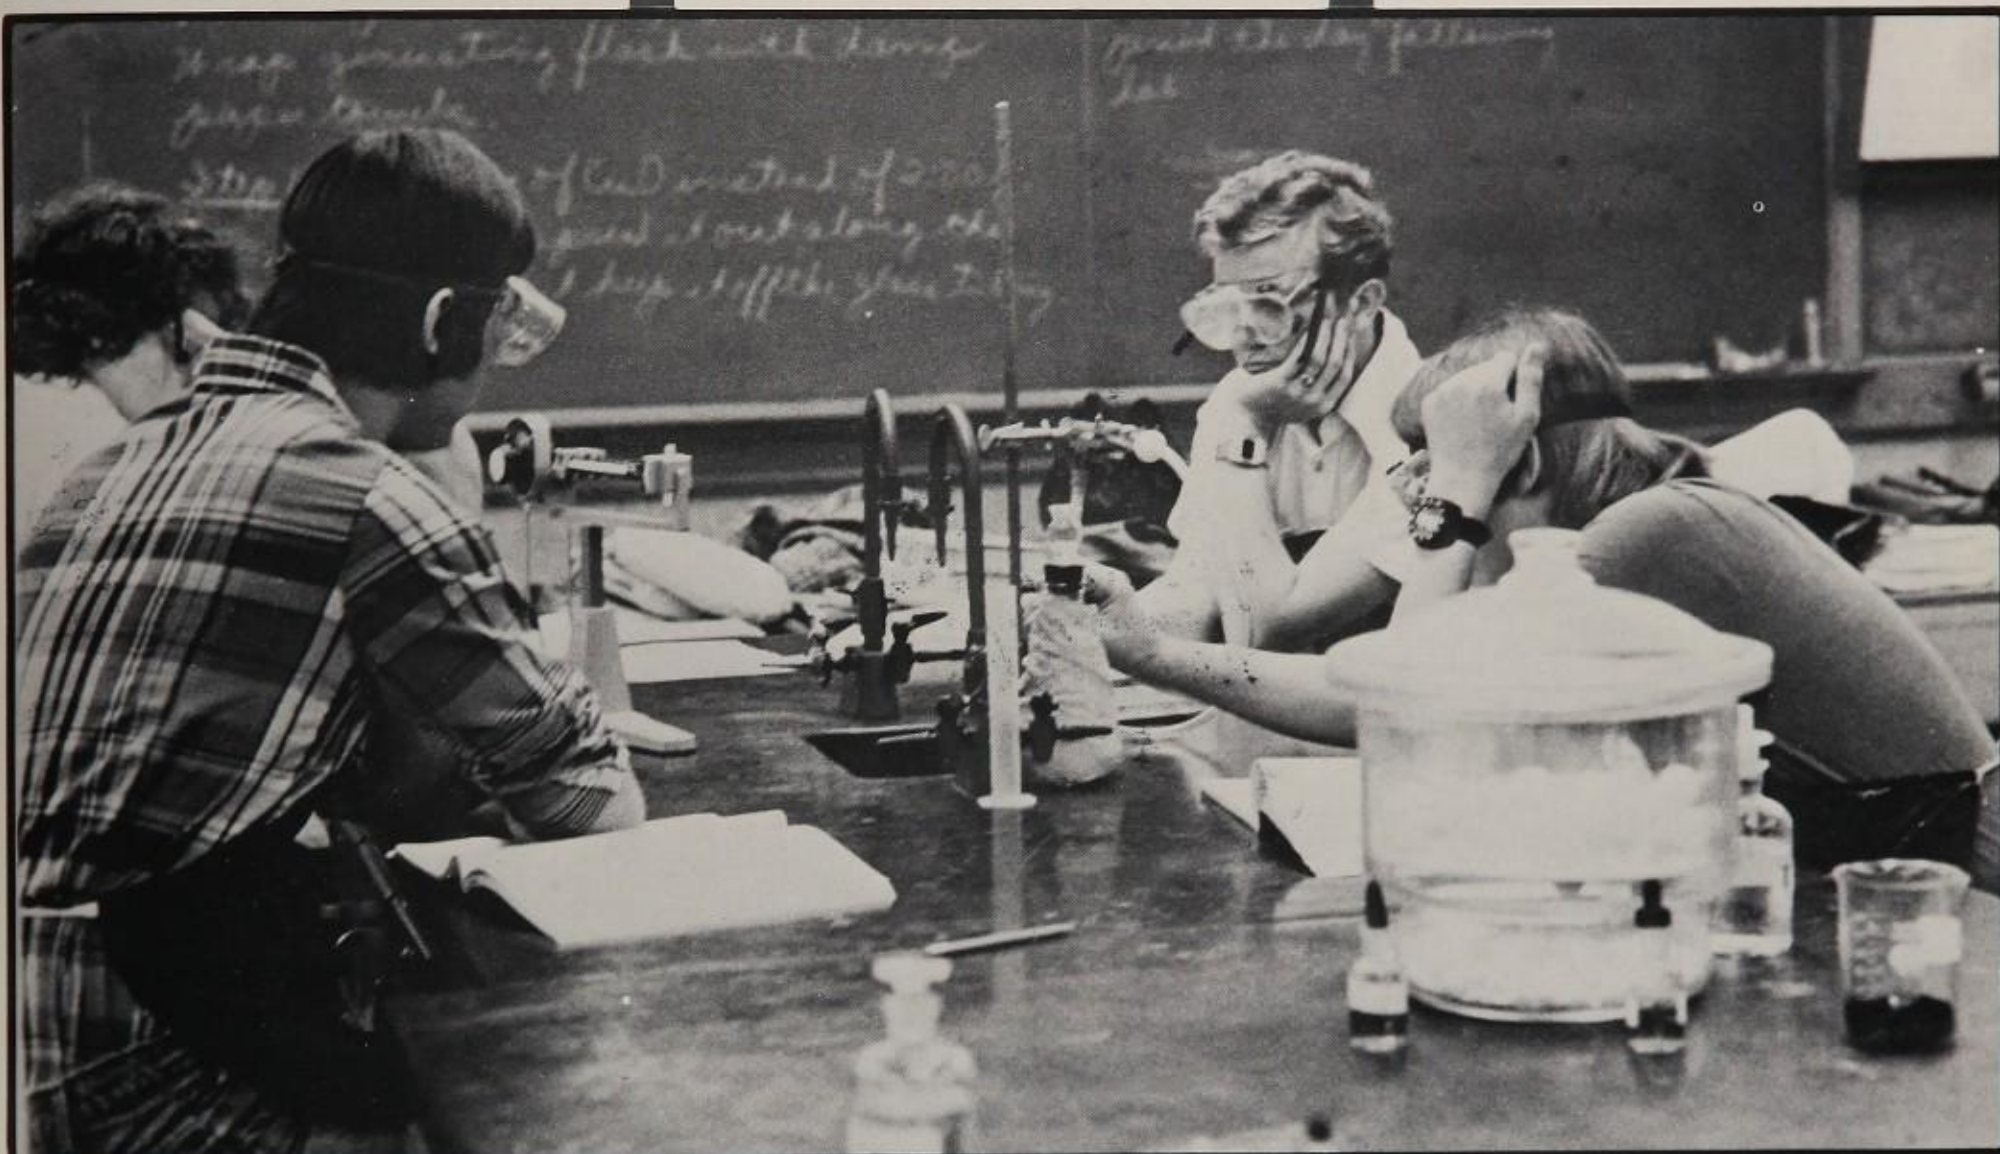

If Randy Alexander could just think what the coach told him to do if he got in this kind of position everything would be all right.

Marvin Sheldon is wondering if his experiment would blow up if he added a few of his own special ingredients.

Connie Bertrand is serving the bride's cake at the example wedding that the homemaking department put on.

"And this is an original ink blob," explains a geology guest speaker to some of the geology students.
